Officers from the Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police departments, the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and the Mississippi Highway Patrol were joined Thursday by elected officials, friends and family members to honor their fallen brethren during a National Police Memorial Day observance. The event took place at the police officer's memorial in front of the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis. Guest speakers included Bay St. Louis City councilman Bill Taylor and District Attorney Cono Caranna.

Gaudin back in as head coach

Crowd chants 'Rocky! Rocky!' as board changes previous decision

BY DWAYNE BREMER
Contributing Writer

The Hancock County School Board on reconsidered a decision made earlier this month, and gave Rocky Gaudin his job back as head football coach at Hancock High School.

Gaudin has more than 25 years coaching experience in the area, beginning as an assistant at Hancock in the '70s and '80s; serving as head coach at Bay High in the early '90s; and as head coach at Hancock for almost a decade.

For the past three years, Gaudin has served as both athletic director and head coach at Hancock. In 2001, the school's program was moved up to class 5A football. In the past two years, the Hawks posted a combined mark of 14-9, including a Shrimp Bowl victory in 2002; victories over state powers Brandon and Picayune in 2002; and Hattiesburg and Meridian in 2001.

Nearly 75 of Gaudin's friends, family members and students packed the school district central office for Friday evening's meeting.

Lott: $2.6M approved for I-10 Visitors Center

THE SEA COAST ECHO
U.S. Sen. Trent Lott on Friday announced that federal funding totaling $2,682,000 has been awarded for further development of the visitors center along I-10 in Hancock County.

Lott said the funds will be used to create a facility "that will showcase the Gulf Coast's science and technology assets, including the Gulf Coast's long-time connection to space research, oceanography and shipbuilding."

The funding was added to the federal budget at the specific request of Senator Lott in a previous legislation, and it will be administered by the

Musgrove approves plan to stabilize MS shrimp industry

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Gov. Ronnie Musgrove on Friday announced a plan for distributing Mississippi's portion of the Congressional Fisheries Disaster Relief Fund. He said the Department of Marine Resources had reviewed input from shrimp industry representatives to set qualifying criteria and recommend how the $1,003,307 share would be disbursed.

"The shrimping industry is a vital component in the economy of south Mississippi and the state as a whole," Musgrove said. "As governor, I am committed to protecting jobs created by shrimping, and I will ensure this industry continues to receive the support it needs. One hundred percent of the fund is being distributed to the shrimpers, boat captains and businesses involved in the shrimping industry."

In February 2003, congress appropriated $35 million in funds to aid the shrimping industry, which has been hard hit by declining prices due to the increasing amount and low price of imported shrimp and higher operating costs. Funds were allotted to states based on the volume of shrimp produced by each state. Mississippi's portion of the $17.5 million allotted for the Gulf of Mexico states is about $1 million.

Upon application, the DMR will distribute two percent of funds to fishermen with a demonstrated record of compliance with Turtle Excluder Device (TED) and Bycatch

Reduction Device (BRD) regulations; 90 percent of funds to shrimp vessel owners, captains and fishermen; and eight percent of funds to related businesses (including deckhands and net makers), shrimp marketing, and funding for TED and BRD technology transfer, including incentives for ensuring widespread and proper use of TEDs and BRDs.

The following qualifying criteria for eligibility of funds have been established:

* A valid state approved

photo identification and social security number/tax identification number;

* Mississippi commercial shrimp license in 2001 and/or 2002; and

* More than 50 percent of income from commercial shrimp fishing or a minimum of 5,000 pounds of shrimp landed in Mississippi in 2001 and/or 2002.

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the state.

BS Degree USM

Try to observe a class that is age appropriate for your child. Hopefully the studio has viewing windows and encourages parents to watch classes. This will enable you to see the teacher's dealings with the students and the way in which she conducts her classes.

Ask other parents if the teacher is organized. Are monthly calendars and newsletters handed out? Is the teacher prepared for classes? Does she arrive on time? Is the studio clean and spacious? Are the children taught proper technique and vocabulary?

Woman arrested for sneaking pot into jail

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

A Hancock County woman was arrested last week after she allegedly tried to smuggle marijuana to an inmate at the Hancock County Justice Facility.

Deputy Chris Russell said Friday that he arrested Natalie N. Miller after she "brought some property to an inmate here - it was a Head & Shoulder's shampoo bottle."

Corrections officer James McPherson gave the bottle to Lt. David Johnson, Russell said, who determined there was something wrong. "He dumped out the shampoo ...," Russell said, "and found three individual balls of marijuana" totalling around 10 grams.

"When she came back for visitation, we served an arrest warrant," Russell said. "We searched her car and found another half-ounce of marijuana."

Miller, a 20-year-old Silver Creek community resident, was taken on into the jail, booked on one count of transfer of a controlled substance in a justice facility and held on a $50,000 bond, Russell said. If convicted, she faces a 3-7 year sentence without parole.

The matter is still under investigation, Russell said, and further arrests could be pending.

We appreciate you ...

Elect Joe Necaise Supervisor District 5

Working For You

Joe Necaise, the son of Joe & Nancy Necaise, and grandson of Edith "Maw-Maw" Favre/Davis, a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis has announced his candidacy for Supervisor-District 5.

Necaise graduated from Bay High School in 1989. He also attended Pearl River Vocational School for Vo-Tech and Lamar University in Orange Texas for heavy equipment certification classes. He has been a Commercial Fisherman/Construction Worker for 14 years.

He is running for this position at a young age in hopes of getting the younger generation more involved with politics and what is going on with the society in today's world.

If elected, I am going to try to lower the taxes for the people of Hancock County, make the needed improvements to the Recreational Facilities, try to resolve the sewer, drainage, and road problems, and to continue making Hancock County a better place to live and to keep Hancock County moving forward. Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

NASA's Parsons is a credit to Mississippi

No it is not Thursday, but Tuesday evening for the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's May Business After Hours.

The big May event will be from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, 697 N. Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis.

The event is co-sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club and Cellular South.

This sponsor combination has taken place several times before and there is always some very good snacks and refreshments, not to forget the great door prizes.

The Bay-Waveland Yacht Club is such a beautiful setting in the evening as the sun drops below the horizon across the waters of the Bay of St. Louis.

There is always a great crowd who attend the Chamber's After Hours and a good time to renew old and make new acquaintances.

In recent years I keep hearing the saying, 'I do not know everyone like I had in years gone by,' and this is true as we have new folks moving into the area on a daily basis.

Among the new folks are new business owners and folks who want to be welcomed to the area, which they have selected as their new home.

Remember to bring along several business cards, as there will be drawings for door prizes.

Congratulations and best wishes go to Bill Parsons, who has been selected as the new manager for NASA's Space Shuttle Program.

Parsons has been serving as director of the John C. Stennis Space Center here in Hancock County since August, 2002.

This is a great promotion for Parsons, who is a native of Mississippi and prior to his position in Hancock County was the deputy director of the Johnson Space Center in Houston, Texas. Parsons replaces Ronald D. Dittmore who announced his resignation from the position of Space Shuttle Program manager in April.

Stennis Deputy Director Michael Rudolph will serve as interim director until a permanent director is named.

Anyway, Parsons will be missed in the area by many of us, as he was very visible and concerned for the community in his stay as director of Stennis.

Best of luck in your new very important position at NASA.

Which do you want: Words or action?

It's ironic when an unprecedented number of outstanding minorities and women serve as President Bush's closest advisors, and both groups are represented well in his judicial nominees, but because they are conservative, these dedicated Americans face regular disparagement from liberals claiming to be diversity's charter advocates. It's a very transparent case of words speaking louder than action.

For instance, most U.S.

Senators and a majority in America's legal community support the President's appeals court nominees, yet a handful of senators have used covert procedural maneuvers to prevent the full Senate from confirming President Bush's judges. These nominees include a woman, a minority and Mississippi's own Judge Charles Pickering - each rated very highly by Democrats and Republicans alike. I think the trite tactics preventing

From the Senate

By U.S. Sen.
Trent Lott

conservative judges from being confirmed are unconstitutional and a shameful trumping of principle to advance a political agenda - including the hard left's disturbing quest to allow late-term partial-birth abortion nationwide, a procedure in which late-term babies are aborted using surgical instruments.

However, this issue is not about one individual opinion on one controversial topic. It's about our entire justice system. Justice Priscilla Owen, former Assistant to the Solicitor General Miguel Estrada and Judge Pickering have been waiting years for Senate confirmation.

Meanwhile a 12 percent vacancy rate on the U.S. Court of Appeals threatens our already over-loaded justice system. The few opposed to Miguel Estrada, Justice Owen and Judge Pickering and the President's other nominees do so at the expense of the many Americans awaiting justice for crimes committed against them.

The Senate minority's current strategy of bottling up judicial nominees in Senate committee, asking them unusual questions to prolong their confirmation process or using any other type of procrastination

Gulf Coast residents: USM is world class

People of Mississippi: The University of Southern Mississippi is world class. I know this because I have the privilege of seeing the intellectual inquisitiveness, community service and leadership of our students. Their spirit of innovation, critical thinking, and exploration is part of the fabric of this institution. In our top-notch academic setting, our students learn about themselves and their field of study as they prepare for future success in a dynamic, global economy.

Southern Miss is a nationally accredited, comprehensive, public, doctoral/research extensive university committed to uncompromising quality. We are ranked as a top 150 Carnegie Foundation and Class 1 Southern Regional Educational Board institution. We've reached these heights because of the superior work of our excellent faculty and staff members. I value their work and will champion efforts that provide students a highly engaging academic experience and contribute to institutional advancement.

After 38 years of professional service to Southern Miss in various capacities and one year as president, my door has been, and remains, open. In the context of the tremendous challenges facing institutions of higher learning, my mission is to secure the future of this organization for the long-term benefit of our students, our more than 900 faculty members, our 2,000 staff members, and our thousands of alumni and friends. We welcome and benefit from the counsel of these diverse stakeholders. As a scientist, I cherish critical thinking and robust discussions of creative and constructive matters that will improve USM.

Given today's grim budgetary realities, changing global economy, and College Board priorities, Southern Miss and other Mississippi public universities do not have the luxury of time. Dialogue is important, but absent action, opportunity is lost.

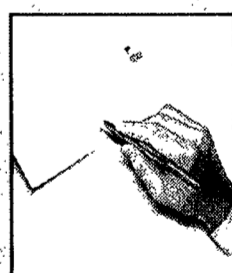

My agenda is clear: Every administrative decision at The University of Southern Mississippi is based on doing what is best for our students. Before any decision is made, we ask, "What is best for our students?" If the answer is "our students will benefit," the decision is implemented and we move forward. If not, we redirect our efforts. If we are to advance our mission of enhancing teaching, research, economic development, and service, it is vital to maintain focus while managing change.

Charged with making tough decisions, I expect, and I am open to criticism. I ask only that such feedback be based upon what is best for the students, as well as the financial viability and future role of our institution. Contrary viewpoints – loyal opposition where the focus is on improving Southern Miss as a world-class university, serving our students, and advancing education and academic achievement – are appropriate. Contrary viewpoints and agendas of a vocal minority, more comfortable with the status quo and more motivated to create publicity than with facing today's economic and competitive realities, are not productive.

I too, am dissatisfied with the communication format and forum that are in place between administration and the faculty senate.

Thanks to my professional journey from teaching faculty member to university president, I am keenly aware of and support the importance, desire, and need for faculty input.

Last fall, we established monthly meetings with the officers of the faculty senate.

The purpose of these meetings was to keep the lines of communication open between the administration and the faculty senate.

I asked one thing of the officers, which was to bring an agenda to each meeting so we could address their issues in a timely manner. We have met two times.

Three meetings have been cancelled by the faculty senate officers, and none were requested to be rescheduled.

The last meeting we had was held on Monday, April 21, with four of the officers. I shared with them a list of accomplishments from the past year and asked if they had any items to discuss.

No concerns were raised during our meeting, and at no time did any of the officers mention the possibility of a "no confidence vote" which was brought up at a special faculty senate meeting two days later.

Avoidance as a way of delaying change is a strategy that has resulted in miscommunication and misunderstanding.

It is an obvious disservice to the rest of the faculty and to the university community as a whole. The current faculty/administration communication paradigm must change.

The question is how best to engage, communicate, and dialogue directly and clearly with all faculty members, providing diverse input while removing the veils of personal agendas and changing the status quo.

Based on feedback from the community and from within the Southern Miss family, I am optimistic that together we can work to improve and broaden communication.

Today's realities and the importance of the task ahead leave us no choice. We have a responsibility to those we serve.

My door is open. This administration desires a productive dialogue with the faculty and with all other stakeholders. We need a participative and productive dialogue about what can be done, versus what cannot be done.

As in the world of business, the message in higher education is clear – the status quo will not serve or strengthen us for the future.

Change is unsettling in any organization, but perhaps even more so in academia, where change is historically slow. We recognize that, but know that without moving beyond our comfort zone to become more efficient and effective, we will not make the advancements needed to sustain and build Southern Miss.

We must utilize all our resources in a more efficient and cost effective manner if we intend to advance our mission of enhancing teaching, research, economic development, and service.

This year has shown great promise by the increased funding from our legislature, our external funding efforts tracking ahead of projections and continuing increases in student enrollment over the past three consecutive semesters. We must, and can, continue to improve.

Advancing our mission is an obligation and responsibility we have to our students, to the people of Mississippi, and all other our stakeholders. I ask for your support, or at least to keep an open mind, as we explore new ways to position Southern Miss to serve today and in the future.

scheme to block confirmation is tantamount to a Senate filibuster – a process by which Senators stall or talk an issue to death, hoping to leave the full Senate with little choice but to drop the issue and move on. Today, aside from their behind-the-scenes delaying tactics, they are conducting an open, unprecedented Senate floor filibuster of nominees Estrada and Owen.

The founding fathers meant for the Senate to speedily confirm a President's judicial nominees, without filibuster. In the past, most Senators believed that no matter which party held the Presidency, a President was entitled to confirmation of his judicial nominees if they are clearly qualified by experience, education and demeanor.

However, during President Bush's first two years in office, only 53 percent of appeals court nominees were confirmed compared to a rate of 90 percent during the same period for the last three presidencies. This includes the time I served as Senate Majority Leader during President Clinton's last term.

In both Justice Owen and Mr. Estrada's case, a clear majority of U.S. Senators support their confirmation. However, because they do not have a super-majority of 60 votes, opponents are keeping them from filling vacancies, some of which are now judicial emergencies. I believe this super-majority requirement is unconstitutional. The section of the Constitution applicable to judicial nominees does not specifically call for a super-majority vote by the Senate on judicial nominees. However, in other parts of the Constitution, the framers clearly refer to a super-majority – indicating that if a super-majority were to be required for judicial nominee votes, the framers would have said so.

Judicial nominees like Justice Owen, Miguel Estrada and Judge Pickering deserve a straight up-or-down vote by the full Senate. They would then either be confirmed or defeated, and each Senator could explain the basis for their vote. To drag these nominations out is very unfair to the nominees, to the Senate's long tradition, and to the American people depending on our judicial system to administer justice. I challenge my colleagues who claim to be the original standard bearers for equal opportunity and fairness to follow words with action by confirming Priscilla Owen, Miguel Estrada and Charles Pickering.

Lott to author bill designating six Coast counties as a National Heritage Area soon

WASHINGTON - U.S. Senator Trent Lott is preparing a bill to designate Mississippi's six coastal counties as a National Heritage Area – a federal mechanism that serves as a source for federal funding targeted toward local cultural and historical preservation efforts, much like national parks, but without the mandate of federal ownership, zoning or other imposed restrictions.

"The Mississippi Gulf Coast has a unique history, culture and natural make-up," Senator Lott said. "This designation will make up to $1 million available each year for various preservation efforts in Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, George, Stone and Pearl River counties."

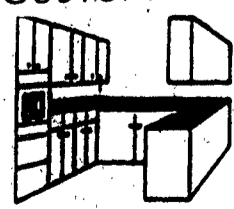

If approved, the coastal counties would comprise Mississippi's only National Heritage Area, joining 23 existing National Heritage Areas nationwide – locales considered ineligible for national park status but a good fit for more adjustable National Heritage designations. Though containing much of the same benefits as national parks, the National Heritage Area Program does not involve federal ownership of any land. Rather, the program makes funding available each year for worthy individual projects designed to preserve historical or natural beauty.

"I believe this designation can be a boost to the tourism economy along the Gulf Coast," Senator Lott continued. "The program is flexible and adaptable to the needs of local communities and property owners, yet still provides important preservation components and incentives. It will complement the Gulf Islands National Seashore and other nearby cultural and historical sites."

Senator Lott plans to formally introduce the legislation next week.

Reading is Fundamental

Charles B. Murphy Elementary School Principal Lenette Ladner and school librarian Jeannie Brooks display the RIF award the school received from Reading Is Fundamental (RIF) as the winner of the Mississippi Small Site State Champion of Read With Me: The 2003 RIF Community Reading Challenge, presented by MetLife Foundation

Charles B. Murphy School receives state RIF award

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlington has been named the Mississippi Small Site State Champion of Read With Me: The 2003 RIF Community Reading Challenge, presented by MetLife Foundation.

Reading Is Fundamental, Inc., the nation's largest and oldest nonprofit children's literacy organization, and MetLife Foundation honored the school at a state awards ceremony recently to celebrate the children's achievement in meeting personal reading goals and the sites ability to engage community support for children's literacy.

Headlining the celebration was Amanda Shaw, a 12-year-old fiddle virtuoso from Mandeville who has delighted audiences in Louisiana and across America with her bubbly spirit and big-time talent. Most recently, she was the kickoff of the Cher concert in New Orleans.

Amanda Shaw and her band, The Cute Guys (all grown-ups, by the way), have been regulars on the Louisiana music festival circuit, receiving rave reviews for performances at Festival Inter-nationale, the French Quarter Festival, and the New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival. Of Amanda's Jazz Fest performance, RollingStone.com wrote, "Cajun fiddle wizard Amanda Shaw left mouths agape."

The 117 children and community volunteers at Charles B. Murphy earned the distinction out of more than 1,100 sites and 360,000 children that pledged to participate nationwide. The challenge seeks to motivate children to read for fun and enlists the powerful support of families and communities in the struggle for a more literate America.

During two weeks in January, February and early March, more than 20 community members from Boeing, GE Plastics, Hancock Medical Center, Hancock County Supervisors Office, Hancock County Sheriffs Department, Stennis and the Hancock County Library System, read with children and participated in fun-filled reading activities. A total of 117 children took a personal challenge to complete literacy-related activities at home and to meet reading goals.

In April, RIF National announced two winners in each state, a large site and a small site (serving less than 350 children). The winners were determined through a scoring system that factored the number of children at the site who met reading goals and completed bonus literacy-related activities and the number of family and community members who participated in the site's reading events. Each state champion receives $200 in gift cards to purchase books, a commemorative certificate and medals for each participating child.

In March, the Technical Processing department of the Hancock County Library System was recognized for processing more than 800 accelerated reader books for the program. Several of the programs encouraging meeting the personal goals and challenge were also co-hosted by the Pearlington Public Library.

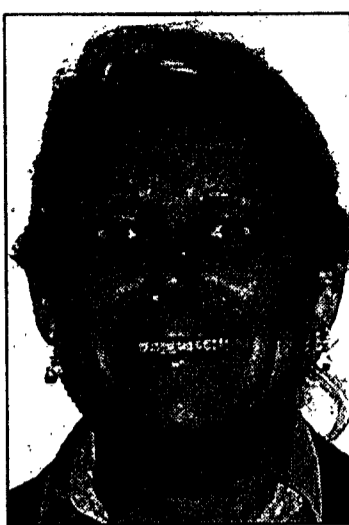

Cowand seeks re-election as Supervisor, District 3

Lisa Cowand announces her candidacy for the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, District 3 position in the August 5 Republican primary.

Cowand's previous political endeavors include 13 years of elected office: Hancock County Board of Supervisors, District 3 and Bay St. Louis City Council person, having served as Council President in 1988.

Cowand is currently Vice-president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and serves as a Board Member on the Gulf Regional Economic Development Commission. She has an abundant experience evidencing her commitment and continuing involvement in Hancock County.

Past experience include: the Hancock County Animal Control Commission, Board of Mississippi Women in Municipal Government, Mississippi Association of

Lisa Cowand

Supervisors Education Committee, Mississippi Mental Health and Retardation Committee, President of Bay/Waveland Garden Club, Charter Member of the Bay/Waveland Jaycees, Organizer and Captain of Krewe of Kids Carnival Parade, Board of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, and the Hancock County Solid Waste Authority.

Cowand attended Loyola University and also graduated from L.S.U. Dental School as a certified dental assistant. Her husband Norman is employed with G.E. Plastics at Port Bienville in Hancock County. They have four children, twins Brian and Norman, Lawren and Tyler.

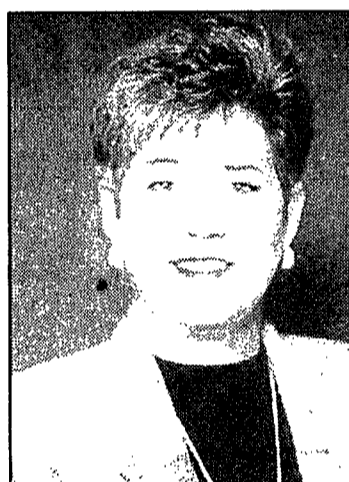

Cowand expressed that her years in elected office provided her with an appreciation of the importance of involvement and full-time commitment hold in the effectiveness of county government.

Cowand added, "My varied experience on a number of boards and commissions has given me a clear understanding of the county's problems and needs. I ask for your support and input, as I enter this campaign with many ideas, but with an open mind and a willingness to listen."

Metzler seeks announces re-election as circuit clerk

Hancock County Circuit Clerk, Pam Metzler has announced that she will seek re-election in the upcoming election. Metzler, a Democrat, is presently completing her fourth term as Circuit Clerk. She has 27 years of experience in the Circuit Clerk's office.

Metzler served as President of the Mississippi Circuit Clerk's Association in 1994-95, and a member of the Circuit Clerk's Association Executive Committee for 16 years. She also served as a member of the Mississippi Judicial Advisory Committee representing all Circuit Clerks in the state for four years, is a past president of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, serves as

Pam Metzler

Advisor of Kids Voting for Hancock County, and has been chairman of Our Lady of the Gulf Crab Fest for the past five years, assists with Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund and is a recipient of the American Legion Auxiliary Girls State Program Award and a member of the American Legion Ladies Auxiliary Unit 139.

"It has always been a great privilege to work for and serve the citizens of Hancock County. My candidacy is based on my qualifications and 27 years of experience working at the courthouse," Metzler said.

Stennis Space Center donates Camille images to Maritime & Seafood museum

THE SEA COAST ECHO

NASA's Stennis Space Center has donated five rare aerial images, taken in August 1969, just days after Hurricane Camille struck the Mississippi Gulf Coast, to the Maritime and Seafood Industry Museum in Biloxi. The images are now on display in the museum's Wade Guice Hurricane Museum, which chronicles the history of storms along the Mississippi coast.

The Hurricane Camille aerial views of the storm's destruction had been on display in StennisSpace, the visitor center at Stennis, since Aug. 17, 2002 (the 33rd anniversary of Hurricane Camille).

"The Maritime and Seafood Industry Museum is very excited about the donation of the Hurricane Camille pictures from Stennis," said Robin David, director of the museum.

The photographs are computer-enhanced, 40" x 60" digital images produced from 9-inch film discovered by Daniel Lee, president of GeoTek Management Services Company at Stennis.

"These images offer a unique view, because most of the photos of Camille's devastation were taken from ground level. These aerial images provide a bird's-eye view," said Lee. "From a scientific and technical standpoint, what's critical is that the photos allow viewers to quantify the damage along the coastline that cannot be seen from one small snapshot."

The images' aerial perspective allows residents who lived on the Mississippi Gulf Coast when Camille hit to identify their neighborhoods and even pinpoint their houses.

It also allows civil defense personnel to take a much more proactive approach to disaster preparation, which is one of the areas of focus for NASA's Earth Science Applications (ESA) Directorate at Stennis.

"NASA's orbiting sensors developed over the last 30 years provide increasingly accurate data on hurricane formation and forecasts," said NASA's Marco Giardina, an applications development specialist with ESA at Stennis. "Hurricanes form over tropical waters, typically when sea surface temperatures warm to about 80°F or greater, a phenomenon that can be accurately measured from space today. The newest NASA sensors like MODIS (or Moderate Resolution Imaging Spectroradiometer) collect data that builds advanced models of hurricane structure and offer the hope that by improving our understanding of these enormous storms we can better predict their power and manage their impact."

The photographs include the areas of Biloxi, Gulfport, Long Beach and Pass Christian.

Gaudin -- reinstated

Gaudin addressed the board in executive session for nearly 45 minutes, and board members discussed the matter privately for another thirty. The large crowd outside the doors chanted "Rocky! Rocky! Rocky!" in support of Gaudin.

When the meeting was reopened, the board discussed other business for another thirty minutes. Superintendent Mike Ladner then gave his recommendation to the board that Gaudin be rehired for the 2003-2004 school year as head football coach; and starting in the 2004-2005 school year that the athletic director position and head coaching positions be separated. The motion was approved 4-1.

District Two Representative Cheryl Bennett explained that when the athletic director position was created in 1999, it was intended that the two positions be separated.

The board named Gaudin the athletic director at that time but because of certain events, Gaudin has acted as both Head Coach and Athletic Director since 2000. Bennett also explained that it was not necessarily about Gaudin, but about the separation of the positions.

Gaudin was pleased with the decision of the board. "I did not know what to expect but I'm thrilled to be able to continue the work we have already started. We have a large Senior class, and I wanted to see this class through. I love to coach, and I love these kids."

When asked what he would do next year, when Gaudin must make a choice between Coach and Athletic Director, Gaudin stated "I've always been a coach first, I'm not going to say for sure, but I'd lean towards coaching right now, it's my heart."

The friends and family that came out to support Gaudin were also pleased. "It's good to give love to someone who loves you," shouted one lady.

"It was my recommendation letter that coach Gaudin return on both occasions, and I think we made the right decision this time - I have full faith and confidence in Coach Gaudin, and we're looking forward to the 2003 season," Mike Ladner said.

The Hawks will wrap up the spring season with a trip to Columbia to play against some other area schools in the Walter Payton Classic.

"It's great that we are going to have Coach Rocky back with us. He is like a father to me and the other players, and we love him," said starting cornerback Eddie Bledsoe, who will be a Senior in 2003.

In other business, the Board approved several teachers for return in the 2003-2004 school year, as well as travel expenses for teachers going to workshops and seminars, along with the adoption of a student handbook for Hancock High School. District Three board member Morgan Ladner challenged an item in the handbook for the junior high students which had an exemption rule for students with a C average not to take exams.

The board also discussed at length the problems with attendance issues. District Four board member Peggy Ladner raised a question about an increase in the number of days a student can be absent.

"I don't like the idea of increasing the day's," she said.

"Kids need to be in school, and for those who do not have valid excuses we need to hold the parents more accountable, some kids have 60 or 70 missed days. We have only one truant officer for the Bay-Waveland and Hancock School District, the system is broke," said Superintendent Mike Ladner. He also raised the possibility of having county constables assist the school district in the future. The meeting was finished in executive session.

located near NASA's Stennis Space Center, and it will showcase Mississippi's important roles in our nation's space programs, defense, programs and other areas that pertain to the region," Lott said. "This will be a world-class center that will educate everyone who sees it, and hopefully it will inspire young people to pursue a career in science, technology, engineering, mathematics and other sciences related to exploration, discovery and our economy along the Mississippi Gulf Coast."

Conceptual designs for the center have been completed. When finished, the center is expected to be a $50 million project. The center will incorporate the existing Stennis' visitors center, which will be moved from the Stennis Space Center campus to the new site along the nearby I-10 interchange. Lott has worked with leaders at NASA/Stennis and the project's supporters to secure funding for the center since early 2001.

Reading Fair Winners

The Region 5 MS Reading Fair was held in Hattiesburg recently with 29 school districts in attendance. Reading Fair participants chose books appropriate for their age level and brought it to life on a display board as well as naming all the essential elements of the story. Students and their boards were judged and had to place on the school level, and then the district level before advancing to the Region 5 Reading Fair. For the first time in the history of Hancock County's participation in the regional fair, two local students earned an award. Laurel Bruce and Jamie Jelinski earned 3rd place in the group category grades 4-8 for their depiction of the story The Doll People by Ann M. Martin and Laura Godwin. Both girls are 5th grade students at East Hancock Elementary. Pictured with their winning Reading Fair board are Laurel Bruce and Jamie Jelinski, students from East Hancock Elementary.

Mississippi Paralysis Assoc. provides funding to aid the survivors of homicide victims

Mississippi Paralysis Association (MPA) this week announced it will assist survivors of homicide victims with scholarship dollars to attend the Third Annual Weekend Retreat for survivors of homicide victims sponsored by Mississippi Coalition for Survivors of Homicide Victims, Inc. June 6-8, 2003 at the Duncan Gray Camp and Conference Center in Canton.

The Mississippi Paralysis Association, Inc. is dedicated to improving all areas of life for paralyzed individuals. As part of that pledge, the MPA will absorb the $50 registration fee for survivors of homicide victims who are paralyzed and wish to attend the Weekend Retreat. Registration for the Retreat begins Friday, June 6, at 4 p.m., and the $50 per person fee includes lodging and meals during the Retreat. Deadline for registration is May 15, 2003.

The Mississippi Coalition for Survivors of Homicide Victims, Inc. is an organization of service providers that provides support, advocacy and referrals to families and friends of homicide victims. Its mission is to assist survivors in coping with the loss of a loved one and to a criminal act and to educate and inform communities of the trauma the loss of a loved one to an act of violence can cause.

Those who wish to attend the Retreat or inquire about scholarships, may contact Tara Frazier, Coalition Chair, toll free at 1-866-522-4087 or at tfrazier@mdoc.state.ms.us.h

In Memoriam
In Loving Memory of JOBY NECAISE
MAY 18, 1973 - FEB. 1, 1990

The special ones we care about are always very close in thought.

To remember Joby's - birthday in a very thoughtful way Makes life's special memories, adding sunshine to our day.

You're everything special that means love to me, Your smile is a part of each warm memory.

When we remember special times and what it means today, We must remember that you are just away.

So we think of you today, hoping that you know, Our feelings go much deeper that mere words could ever show.

Teacher of the Year

Olive "Ollie" McKenna was the recipient of a $1000 Teacher of the Year Award from the Waveland Walmart on Thursday. McKenna has been teaching for 50 years. Walmart also awarded Waveland Elementary School with a $500 "Be a Good Neighbor" environmental grant. This is the eighth year for the company's teacher of the year program. Over $3 million in donations to schools across the country will be made this year. Environmental grants are given to non-profit organizations and schools in hopes of supporting community projects that directly influence land, air, or water. Pictured are store manager Ray Cox, Olive "Ollie" McKenna, and Waveland Elementary School Principal Becky McCaleb.

BUSINESS NEWS

Diamondhead group to meet Thursday

The next membership meeting of the Diamondhead Business and Professional Association will be held at the Diamondhead Country Club on Thursday, May 22 at 8:00 a.m. The guest speaker will be Dave Dennis from the Federal Reserve Board, Atlanta District. He will speak on current and upcoming economic outlooks for the nation and Mississippi.

"Business After Hours" will be held the same day from 5-7 p.m., hosted by Joe Floyd, owner/broker of Diamondhead Properties, real estate sales and Appraisal & Management Service. They are located in the Diamondhead Yacht Club, Marina Plaza, on Yacht Club Drive just South of the interstate.

New RED light pole banners have been installed in the business district. Thank you to the Diamondhead Fire District and Gary Knoblock, owner of Lightning Quick Signs in Bay St. Louis for hanging the banners.

Two upcoming events that members can participate will be the 100th Centennial of Flight to be held on Sept. 20 & 21, 2003 at the Diamondhead Airport and the Annual Merchant's Fair, on Nov. 20th at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Booth space will be available for $75 for each event. The Airport Centennial will host 60 vintage and war bird planes, open to the public. The event is being held to raise funds for airport improvements. It will be the same weekend as the annual Arts & Crafts Fair held at the Country Club.

The Association's Web Site is located at: www.dbpa.org. All member companies with yearly membership dues paid in full are listed by category, with contact information including address, phone numbers, contact names, and e-mail addresses.

Jobless rate unchanged

BY BARBARA POWELL
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi, like the rest of the nation, is struggling in a stagnant economy that has forced employers to cut jobs or postpone expansion projects.

As a result, the state's jobless rate hasn't fallen below 6 percent since December 2001.

Mississippi's jobless rate was unchanged in March, remaining at 6.2 percent for the second consecutive month.

That means employers are cutting jobs at about the same pace that positions are being added.

But while state officials are hopeful that employers will add jobs with the end of the war in Iraq, March data shows some troubling trends.

In March, 27 percent more people filed initial claims for unemployment benefits than in February. Additionally, the number of unemployed workers who had to draw unemployment benefits for longer than a week rose 9.4 percent in March.

The monthly unemployment rate is a snapshot of the week that includes the 12th day of the month, whereas the claims data reflects the number of people who filed to receive unemployment benefits during the entire month.

But the state is better off this year than last year. In March 2002, the jobless rate was 7 percent, and the average rate for all of 2002 was 6.8 percent.

"Mississippi had a better beginning for 2003 than it did in 2002," said Curt Thompson, executive director of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission.

Mississippi also isn't faring much worse than the nation as a whole.

U.S. employers have cut more than 500,000 jobs this year. Initial claims for unemployment benefits is at a 13-month high, while the number of continuing claims is the highest in six months.

Comparing national and state unemployment rates, Mississippi's jobless rate continues to be slightly higher than the national average.

U.S. unemployment was 5.8 percent in March, and rose to 6 percent in April. Mississippi hasn't released the jobless rate data for April.

Some industry sectors are faring better this year than others.

Comparing March data with March 2002,

LIGHTING UP THE BIG APPLE

Hancock Bank executives joined NASDAQ officials to lead the Thursday, May 15 NASDAQ stock market opening. The bankers' New York visit coincides with Hancock management's nationwide efforts to promote Hancock Holding Company stock and Gulf South economic development. On hand were Hancock Bank's chief financial officer Carl J. Chaney, left, FTN Financial Securities analyst Peyton Green, and Hancock president and chief executive officer George A. Schloegel, who rang the opening bell.

Area players to head up All-Stars

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

There will be two games played in the 2003 Whitney Bank South Mississippi All-Star Classic. The two game format will feature a game between the future stars of the East and West sides of the Coast followed by a game between the senior All-Stars from the two sides.

Area players on the future team are B.J. Corr of Bay High, James Ball of Hancock, Dustin Allen of Pass Christian, and Tim Kulikowski of St. Stanislaus. Will Seyour, head coach of SSC will be one of the West coaches in the future game.

Brandon Strong and Guy Alleman of Bay High lead the way for the area senior all-stars. Lane Jenkins of Pass Christian was also selected for the West team. The West senior all-stars will be coached by Bay High's Mike Weems along with Kevin Conrad of Stone County.

Hancock North Central students work to really 'Make a Difference'

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

One hundred and seventeen fifth graders in Natasha Higginbotham's class at Hancock North Central Elementary School spent the last two months learning how to make a difference. The project was part of a history lesson.

The class was studying famous people in history and Higginbotham challenged the children to think of ways that they could make a difference in their own little corner of history.
The class decided to lend a helping hand in the community.

On Friday the class presented a check to director
Terry Latham of Hope Haven Children's Shelter for $170, along with clothing donations for the kids.

They also presented the Food Pantry's director Tom McCormick with boxes of non perishable food and a cash donation.

To Bragg Moore from the Catholic Diocese of Biloxi, the class presented a truckload of Mardi Gras beads for their house building project in Mexico. Moore said there were enough beads to build two or more block homes for families who otherwise would have no where to live.

The children held garage sales, cookie bakes, and other activities to raise money for the project. Some also gave in more personal ways.

Deven Deschamp and Hunter Seymour planted a Magnolia tree in front of the school in honor of the troops in Iraq. Maegan Reynolds went all the way to the Mississippi Highway Patrol to ask that they make a dangerous curve located at
Hwy. 603 and Necaise
Crossing safer for drivers.
She wrote the department and received a letter thanking her for her concern and telling her that work would begin this summer to improve her stretch of road.

One student donated her long hair to Locks of Love, and organization that makes hairpieces for children who have lost their hair due to illness. Eight more volunteered at the Special Olympics and even more cleaned area roadways of trash.

"You can make a difference, each and every one of you, and it is that makes the choice to do that," said Latham.

"To do good things for the good of people makes you feel good and you have done good things," said
McCormick.

Have some fun at 'Dogtail Hour'

"GOOD DOG!" Dog
Training invites you and your favorite canine companion to a free evening of fun and socializing. There will be refreshments for people and dogs, games and activities to play with your dog, and a drawing for a "doggy" door prize! Get free literature on training and living with your dog, as well as information about upcoming classes and seminars. Friends Of The Animal Shelter will offer micro-chipping to protect your beloved pet, at a nominal cost of $15.00.

Micro-chips smaller than the size of a grain of rice are placed between the dog's shoulder blades. If the animal is lost it can be scanned with a device available at most shelters and other locations. The scan will produce information on the dog's ownership. The animal wears a small tag which indicates that it has been chipped and a world wide toll free number to call for information.

Another advantage of chipping is that research laboratories are now required by law to scan all animals. They are not allowed to use animals that have been chipped, said Friend's Paula Leoni.

Cascading plants offer finishing touch

BY NORMAN WINTER
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi
Research & Extension Center

In today's container, basket or window-box plantings, cascading plants have become the ideal finishing touch for the overall design scheme.

In recent years, I have urged gardeners to choose plants that gently cascade over the rim. While that is still important, the new look includes those that reach the container's edge, then plummet toward the ground.

Since we are still weeks away from planting season, we have time to do a little planning and dreaming of beautiful new container and plant combinations. One plant you must look for this spring is Silver Falls dichondra. Many of you have been trying to eradicate dichondra from your lawn, but Silver Falls is different. It's silvery, shiny and sort of fuzzy, which adds to its uniqueness hanging down from a container.

The good news is it will not like our winters, and it will not become a pest. More good news is that it thrives in our torrid summers, allowing you to almost mistreat it and yet still look like a garden pro.

One of the prettiest plantings I have seen it used with is this spring's new All-America Selections winner Blue Wave petunia. In addition to blues, Silver Falls will be striking with burgundy or deep pink flowers.

The various forms of variegated Vinca minor are overlooked for their use in containers and baskets. One of the newest and one of my favorites is Illumination. Wow! Its leaves are a bold, golden lime in the centers with dark green margins. Illumination looks great combined with purple, lilac and lavender flowers. While some vincas are sort of bushy, the habit of Illumination lets it fall freely downward from a container.

Another great cascading plant finding its way to more containers is the Lysimachia nummularia. This plant, often called Creeping Jenny or Pennywort, is exceptional in hanging baskets. One of the prettiest combinations I have seen it used with is Bella abutilon or flowering maple.

To be perfectly honest, the abutilon has never been one of my favorite landscape plants. The hibiscus-like flowers bend downward, leaving me dissatisfied. However, if you put them in hanging baskets, you'll have a winner. The flowers will

the Transformation of South Beach Boulevard

Bay couple's dream begins a revolution

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

Locals once thought of the area around South Beach Boulevard and Washington Street as undesirable.

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeil said the practically abandoned area attracted drunks and loiterers rather than families and vacationers. Graffiti represented local artists while drug deals offered alternative activities. It was a place that required constant supervision and clean-up.

Two years ago, however, the environment there began to change.

"I don't see those kind of things there any more," McNeil said. "We haven't had the calls or the problems."

The transformation began with a local woman and her husband, who moved to Bay St. Louis from Hawaii so their son could graduate with his cousins.

Colleen and Todd Read envisioned this defunct part of town as a public space where "children and their families could commune with nature in a safe, healthy environment."

"We saw the end of Washington Street as an opportunity for something wonderful," Colleen Read said. "The area at that particular time was not very clean, the beach area had become a place of refuge for undesirable activity and the commercial venues were basically dead for one reason or another."

The area, she said, just lacked the energy for a turn-around.

"Similar to a ghost town, people rarely stopped to see the potential or had the time to do anything about this vacant piece of Bay St. Louis," she said. "This influenced us to see the opportunity for change."

For Read and her husband, "the desire to see positive growth through positive programming take place in a community that deserves the absolute best" inspired the creation of a public venue that soon became a popular gathering place for locals and visitors alike.

Their creation, Da Beach House, also sparked a collaborative community effort in transforming the area into a thriving section of the city.

The transformation began with the renovation of Da Beach House's building. The Reads received help from people like Chris Hill and Mike and Kyndra Mayo, "who did all they could do to bring the old building to working order just out of the kindness of their hearts."

Neighbors also con-

who saw the vision and did whatever they could to bring this into reality," she said. "Upon opening, we were blessed with tremendous love and support from the community, local church groups and all the children who saw the idea of a new playground as an exciting new adventure."

Other key helpers included Mike Walker with the Department of Marine Resources and the many local residents, artists, art students and musicians, "who made a commitment to continued positive growth and education in the new and growing South Beach Community."

Along with the Reads and their helpers, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors also had plans for South Beach Boulevard. They brought a new bike route and walkway to the area, which promoted a family-friendly atmosphere.

Supervisor Steve Seymour said other projects are planned for the area, including the addition of a bathroom/shower facility and shaping the parking lot.

With the community and the county striving to better the South Beach Boulevard area, it is no wonder that public interest soon grew.

A wind too strong

Mr. La Violette is taking two months off to promote his new book, Sink or be Sunk. In his absence we are publishing a series of his early stories on sailing in the Mississippi Sound. We hope you enjoy them.

PART 1.

MAN OVERBOARD

There was a time that we had five catamarans on the beach in front of the house. Whereas the small sunfish was fun, the larger catamarans were also fun and in their way a great deal more demanding in skill.

Ray, a neighbor, was a natural at running these tricky two-hulled craft. I don't believe when he bought his Hobie that he actually had any experience with sailing. But in a few days, he was putting the Hobie through its paces in the water in front of our house in ways that at times seemed unbelievable. He would bring it in flying, that is on one hull, and run it up on the beach to a thunderous spectacular stop. The sand may have been hard on the hull, but it was an impressive show of control.

I went out with him every so often and we enjoyed sailing together. Although I preferred my Sunfish, I occasionally took his Hobie out by myself.

However, there was one day when all of this changed. That day we had a strong easterly wind propelled by a large storm out in the Gulf. Although choppy, the wind was steady and at a good angle to the beach.

It was the weekend and I reveled in the storm winds throughout the morning, making the Sunfish race through the waves with Greta. Finally, it started to really blow and I came in to find Ray waiting for me on the beach. He was excited and pointed out over the water.

"This is something, Paul. Let's go try it out."

"I don't know Ray," I said turning to look with him at the water. I came in because the wind is picking up and it was getting a bit too rough.

"It won't be that bad on the Hobie. Come on, man, let's go do it. We'll have it rigged in a second and we'll be out of here." So we quickly put the sails up, pushed the Hobie off the beach and in seconds, we were flying over the water on a southwest reach heading for the Louisiana marsh. It was far different cry from my Sunfish!

"Damn Ray, this is unbelievable."

"Yea, man. Ain't it something?"

"But how are we going to turn it around? We'll flip."

"Yea, I was thinking about that, too." He agreed. "Maybe we'll come into the wind or lower the jib or somethin'."

I looked back. We were more than a mile out. The shoreline was getting smaller and smaller. We were hiked way out, sticking out from one little corner at the back end of the trapeze and moving fast, the rigging howling.

The seas were rough, as well, and the tip of the one pontoon in the rough water kept trying to dip into the waves. Ray kept making small light, intuitive touches to the tiller that somehow managed to keep us from flipping. Despite his skill, the pontoon kept

History in the making

History teacher Kelley McKnight and students Matt Cannon, Maressa Riley, and Ashley James (pictured left to right) package boxes of supplies to be shipped to troops serving in the Middle East.

Hancock High donates supplies for the troops

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Hancock High School history department recently coordinated an effort to gather essential supplies for our troops stationed in the Middle East. Students and faculty at Hancock High heeded the call and gave enough razors, candy, soap, tissues, toilet paper, clothing, etc. to fill 24 boxes. In addition, Choice Supermarket in Long Beach donated numerous boxes of baby wipes to help with this effort. The care packages will be sent to former Hancock High students or relatives of current students that are presently serving our country during Operation Iraqi Freedom. To relate this supply drive to the high school curriculum, Kelley McKnight's history class has been corresponding through letters and email with soldiers stationed in the Middle East. McKnight has also used this opportunity to teach her students' lessons in history about and geography of the region.

Registration opens for Library's 2003 Summer Reading Program

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Registration for the Hancock County Library System's 2002 Summer Reading Program will begin Monday, May 19.

Books Ahoy!! is the theme for this year's program, which is open to children and young adults, pre-school age through eighth grade. Programs and activities will begin Tuesday, June 3.

Programs will be held on Tuesdays at 10:30 a.m. at the Pearlinton Public Library; Wednesdays at 10:30 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library; Thursdays at 10:30 a.m. at the Kiln Public Library.

Each registrant will receive a reading record, book bag and pencil with which to record books read, and those who complete the program will receive a certificate.

Awards and certificates will be presented the week of June 24. A library card is required to check out all books, which may be checked out at any of the library system's branches.

To register, children should go to the library branch nearest them, and then visit a branch at least four (4) times during the program, and check out at least six (6) books between May 26 and June 21. To validate each visit, each reading record must be stamped. Merit stamps will be awarded for every five (5) books reach beyond the basic goal of six books.

Programs and activities scheduled for this year's Summer Reading Program include a visit from Marine Life Oceanarium, fish prints with Chris Lagarde, a visit from Terry Vandeventer, the Snake Man and much more.

For more information about individual branch programs, contact Adrienne Bradley, Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, 467-5282; Sandra Ladner, Kiln Public Library, 255-1724; or Deborah Hill, Pearlinton Public Library, 533-0755.

QUILTS done by the Tuesday Quilters, of Bay St. Louis are now on display at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library through the month of May. The display includes hand-made quilts, Christmas quilts, cross-stitch quilts and much more.

Listen to the BUZZ about the Chalmette Plan!

Why are nurses talking about the Chalmette Plan?

Because the Chalmette Plan is nursing as it's intended to be.

Whether you're a new graduate or a seasoned professional, the Chalmette Plan has what you're looking for: professional respect ... top working conditions ... a stable environment ... and an opportunity to make the most of your training and experience.

Chalmette Medical Center nurses are a select group of medical professionals. We look for nurses who are highly qualified, committed, and caring. Several hospitals in our area have recently had to cut back on staff, but CMC is growing. Our community recognizes the high standards we've set, and our nurses exemplify that standard. As a result, more patients are choosing Chalmette. We need to expand our nursing staff to keep pace with our successful growth.

You'll love working at CMC! We offer recruiting bonuses up to $10,000.

- Capped nurse/patient ratios: with no new transfers/admits
- Innovative and flexible scheduling (8, 12, 16 hour shifts)
- New grad "buddy" schedules and preceptor program (pairs new grads with experienced nurses for 6 weeks)
- Weekend specials (32 hours = full-time)
- Competitive salary plus additional hourly difts nights/weekends
- Quarterly bonuses for Med/Surg nights/weekends
- Tuition reimbursement/loan repayment

All of this, plus low turnover, low agency staffing, new nursing stations, new technology and high standards. At CMC we're giving our nurses the tools to better treat their patients ... and the flexibility to meet their personal and family commitments.

 The Chalmette Plan is what nursing is intended to be.

The Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse to coordinate Project Homestead

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The South Mississippi Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse was recently selected by the Mississippi Department of Human Services to coordinate regional activities of Project Homestead, a statewide initiative of the Mississippi Permanency Partnership Network that forms community partnerships to protect vulnerable children and adults from abuse, support family preservation, and prevent family violence and disruption. The Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse will coordinate Project Homestead activities in Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Stone, and George counties.

The primary mission of Project Homestead is to create task forces in each county in the State of Mississippi that will identify the barriers families and children experience in achieving permanency, safety, and well being. Task forces then attempt to pool community resources and create partnerships that will meet the needs of those families and children. The Project Homestead model of grassroots, community organizing has been quite successful in counties in North Mississippi. Regular task force meetings are now being held in Harrison, Hancock, Jackson, and Stone counties and an organizational meeting is scheduled in George County. Dena Wittmann, Ph.D. is the Center's Project Homestead Coordinator. If you would like more information about Project Homestead activities in your county, please contact her at the Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse, 2315 17th Street, Gulfport, 228-869-9586.

Transformation -- South Beach Boulevard

Nathaniel Plant, a representative of the Oceanographic Division of the Navy at NASA, saw Da Beach House as the perfect venue to house cameras for tidal research and education.

"Our beach is now public interest to all who wish to participate by visiting the web site (www.dabeachhousedaplacetobe.com)," Read said. "But most importantly, it serves as a selected site for world-wide research."

On May 19, Da Beach House will celebrate its second anniversary. This date also marks an important moment in the community's history.

"(We now have) awareness of our natural resources and the many ways in which these resources can be used for the benefit of community growth, encouragement and fun," Read said. "There's also a new interest in clean beaches and waterways, particularly at the Washington Street beach location."

Read said the community continues to grow, slowly and surely. Now, instead of graffiti, true arts of work decorate the area. Instead of drug deals, there are numerous family-oriented activities.

Look in the upcoming issues of The Sea Coast Echo for more about the growth and transformation of Bay St. Louis' South Beach Boulevard.

catching at the waves, again and again.

"Ray, I think we should!"

The tip caught, digging deep into a wave. We pitch poled. Ray went flying through the air in one direction and I in another.

When I came to the surface, I saw Ray a little way away. He waved to me and together we swam after the overturned craft. We had to hustle; the wind was pushing the upturned boat away from us, using the trapeze like a sail. Suddenly the Hobie stopped with a tell-tale shudder. The mast had jammed in the bottom.

"I'll go down," I said, "and try to pull it free. If you get the strap and be ready to jerk it as soon as it comes free, we're out of here." I waited until he had climbed up on the hull and got the righting strap. He nodded and I went down and pulled at the mast.

This was not my small Sunfish. Around me in the dark were yards and yards of sail and the mast I had to free from the bottom was a huge long stick, covered with mud. I pulled and pulled and finally the mast came free. Ray quickly jerked the strap. The Hobie refused to come upright and the wind pushed it back down and stuck the mast in again. He looked at me and shook his head. I went down again, he jerked, and we replayed the same scene two more times.

The thing to do was to take down the jib and perhaps even the main sail. But as I found out the first time I went to the bottom, the mast had bent when it pitch poled and all of the lines working the sails were fouled as well as covered with mud; we couldn't free them to lower them.

Finally, as we worked, the Hobie drifted into a slightly deeper area and we got the mast clear of the bottom. Ray and I grabbed the lines, stood on the hull and the two of us together to pull the Hobie upright.

Suddenly, the sail came out of the water. The two hulls came back down with hard slams and the sails, dripping mud and water, shuddered upright. Since its sails were still set and the lines blocked, the Hobie jerked forward and took off on its own.

The good thing was it was headed back to the beach. The bad thing was that I wasn't aboard.

Ray had managed to hang on, but the hard slam of the hull when it came down had knocked me loose. I dogpaddled in the water as the Hobie raced away toward the shore, its rigging jammed in position. Ray was shouting something.

"Come back! Come back!" I yelled.

He shouted something more. It was as if I was in one of the last scenes in the "Wizard of Oz," the Iowa State Fair Gas Balloon was taking off carrying the Wizard away from Dorothy, and the Wizard was shouting, "I can't. I don't know how it works." And he left Dorothy stranded in Oz. Only in this case, I was definitely not in Oz.

In a few seconds, Ray and the Hobie were gone from sight. I looked around. There was nothing but rough water and I was in it. Nothing else. The shoreline when I could see it, was just a dark strip.

I started swimming. It was going to be a long swim. A long, long swim.

bend down to look at the viewer. Combine this with a lime-green foliageed lysimachia tumbling downward, and you have an award-winning marriage or partnership.

Don't be afraid to let the falling plants reach 3 to 4 feet to make the container or basket more exciting.

Even though you may get the feeling that you are overdoing it with vigorous racehorse-type plants, remember they can be thinned or trimmed at anytime.

Your soil mix is as important as your plant selection. Don't scrim. Buy the best you can afford.

If you have to have a couple of guys tote your bag of soil, then it is too heavy. It needs to be light and airy, yet with good moisture and nutrient holding capacity.

By all means, choose plants with spiky texture, some round flowers, differing shades of foliage and the all-important cascading feature.

Take Off Pounds Sensibly of the Mississippi Gulf Coast recently named its "Big Losers."

Coast TOPS' Big Losers

Carol Ducote, TOPS #MS190, D'Iberville was crowned MS State Queen at the annual state recognition days in Laurel, Ms recently. Carol lost 75.50 lbs. to reach her physician-set goal. Geneva Lee of #44, Pearl was crowned queen runnerup for her loss of 64.75 lbs. TOPS, Leprechaun's Goal was the theme for the event when 350 members met for events such as a leader's parade, baggy dress review, Spirit of TOPS recognition, royalty parade, Golden Age parade and banner competition.

State division losers from the coast area were: Joseph Bartusiak #214, Biloxi teen who lost 61.50 lbs. in 2002; Terry Bartusiak #214, Biloxi loss of 27.25 lbs.; JoAnn Lott #214, Biloxi - loss of 29.25 lbs.; Charles Smith, #214, Biloxi - loss of 13.50 lbs.; Bernie McGinley, #19, Ocean Springs - loss of 10.75 lbs.; Martha Edwards, #35, Pascagoula - loss of 65.25 lbs.; June Troulliet - #233, Waveland - loss of 54.00 lbs.; Wenda Petrie, #233, Waveland - loss of 87.00 lbs.; and Hila Hines, #35, Pascagoula - loss of 10.50 lbs. Total combined weight loss for the members in MS for 2002 was 5,818.75 lbs. With seventeen of those chapters being in the Coast area.

Chapters winning awards for their banners were: #35, Pascagoula, 1st place, Judge's Choice and 2nd Place, Popular Vote, and #281, Ocean Springs, 1st place, Popular Vote.

Fourteen members graduated into the elite KOPS honor society in an impressive Saturday afternoon Circle of Light. Those graduates from the coast were: Carol Ducote, #190, D'Iberville; Joseph Bartusiak, #214, Biloxi; Wilma Edwards, #281, Ocean Springs; Donna

Murphy, #281, Ocean Springs; Rosalie Osborne, #281, Ocean Springs; Pansy Favors, #19, Ocean Springs; and Mabel Smith, #307, Waveland. Special necklaces for maintaining KOPS status were presented to the following: Mary Ann Adamo, #281, Ocean Springs, five years; Vida Marie Pope, #219, Biloxi, ten years; Pauline Taylor, #203, Escatawpa, fifteen years; and Sue Wilson, #214, Biloxi, twenty years. State Coordinator Carolyn Kinabrew, Biloxi presented 39 special awards to those KOPS who earned K charms for being in the black all year.

At the conclusion of the two-day event, the 2004 SRD committee consisting of Joycielyn Nameth and Shirley Smith of #298, Picayune and David Kinabrew of #214, Biloxi, issued an invitation to the recognition days to be held at the Broadwater Casino Resort on April 16/17.

TOPS is a weight loss organization which offers group support to those who wish to take off pounds in a sensible manner and become healthier individuals. The medically oriented groups meet at various locations in the state of MS. You may visit their website @ www.tops.org or you may call David locally @ 228-388-1916 for locations.

A.M.R.'s Friloux among nation's top 100 Medics

THE SEA COAST ECHO
American Medical Response (AMR), the nation's largest ambulance service, and the American Ambulance Association (AAA) have named paramedic Ed Friloux of Bay St. Louis a national "Star of Life" for 2003-2004.

Steve Delahousey, vice president of AMR's Gulf Coast Division, said "Star of Life" is an honorary title that AAA bestows on about 100 to 110 outstanding EMTs and paramedics across the US each year. He called the selection "the most prestigious award for front-line ambulance personnel in the nation."

Friloux, will travel to Washington, DC, on May 4 for five expense-paid days of recognition from AAA and AMR. While there, he will meet with several members of Congress from Mississippi and tour the nation's capital.

Delahousey said, "The several hundred ambulance services belonging to AAA employ tens of thousands of EMTs and paramedics. So, as one of only about 100 Stars of Life nationwide, Ed is in an extremely elite group."

Based near Washington, DC, AAA is the trade association for the medical transportation industry.

A committee of AMR managers from the 34-state company chose Friloux for the award. AAA criteria call for nominations of ambulance personnel who "personify the best of the profession."

Phil Berg, quality improvement manager for AMR South Mississippi, nominated Friloux. He praised Friloux for his work with AMR's local EMS Explorer post, with the company's bike-medical team and with area government officials.

Most of his time at AMR is spent as a rural responder in Hancock County. In that role, Friloux works in the central and northern parts of the county in a specially-equipped vehicle that does not transport patients. It is Friloux's job to reach rural patients quickly and treat them before the ambulance arrives.

Berg said Friloux excels at his job and connects well with the sheriff's department and volunteer fire-rescue services in outlying Hancock County.

Friloux has worked at AMR for eight years. His wife, Tanya, will accompany him to Washington.

AMR will send 40 Stars of Life to AAA's festivities in Washington this year. In Mississippi, the company employs 450 personnel in Adams, Hancock, Harrison, Hinds, and Madison counties. The Natchez area operation also serves Concordia Parish, Louisiana.

Two other AMR employees in Mississippi also have named Stars of Life this year. Kathy Cooper is an EMT with AMR in Jackson and Tim Houghton is a paramedic in the Natchez area.

Delahousey said AMR plans to introduce the Stars of Life at meetings of city councils and county commissions during National EMS Week in mid-May. AMR will also recognize each Star at ceremonies at the company's offices in Gulfport, Jackson and Natchez. AMR is Mississippi's busiest ambulance service. According to State Health Department reports, in state fiscal year 2000, AMR transported 22 percent of all ambulance patients statewide.

American Medical Response, Inc. (www.amr-inc.com) is locally operated in 34 states. More 18,000 AMR paramedics, EMTs and other professionals transport over four million patients each year in emergency, critical and non-emergency situations. AMR, a wholly owned subsidiary of Laidlaw, Inc., is headquartered in Greenwood Village, CO, near Denver.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER

WHAT AMOUNTED TO CIVIL WAR, AND PITTED BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER, ALMOST CAUSED A COMPLETE DIVISION AMONG THE TRIBES OF ISRAEL. THE GIBEAHITE (NATIVES OF A TOWN IN THE PROVINCE OF BENJAMIN) WERE THE CAUSE OF THE CONFLAGRATION. ALL JUDGES CHAPTER 20. ALL THE REST OF THE TRIBES WERE LINED UP AGAINST THEM, BUT THE TRIBE OF BENJAMIN HAD PROBABLY THE BEST SOLDIERS OF ISRAEL AND IN TWO SUCCESSIVE DAYS, THEY ROUTED THEIR BROTHER TRIBESMEN AND SWEEPED THEM OFF THE FIELD OF BATTLE WITH TUMULTUOUS EASE! ON THE THIRD DAY PHINEHAS, THE SON OF ELEAZAR, ASKED THE LORD IF THEY SHOULD CONTINUE THE BATTLE AGAINST BENJAMIN AND THE LORD CONSENTED. THIS TIME THE ISRAELITES USED AN AMBUSHING TECHNIQUE AND PUT DOWN THE BENJAMINITES SO SEVERELY THAT THERE WERE ONLY SIX HUNDRED MEN LEFT OUT OF TWENTY SIX THOUSAND!

Beware of Urban Legends

In a recent column, "Politicos, Do the Golden Rule," I scoured our members of the U.S. Congress for inverting the golden rule of Matthew 7 by doing for themselves exclusively as public servants what they should be doing for their constituents.

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

In just a couple of days, the column drew fire across the bow from our friendly neighbors in Mississippi.

Beau Gex, an aide to U.S. Representative Gene Taylor of the Fourth Congressional District in Mississippi, got me on the horn and read me my rights. What I had written about the U.S. Congress, he assured me, came from an erroneous e-mail which has crisscrossed the country many times in recent days. "May I send you a corrective e-mail?" he asked me.

Beau Gex's e-mail led me to realize instantly that, more than just slightly tainted, my information was severely flawed and in great part false. Even though I did not base my column entirely on what I had read in the E-mail transmission concerning the U.S. Congress and Social Security, I did not do nearly enough research to learn the facts about taxes and our U.S. Congress.

"Like a lot of rumors that are spread on the internet by e-mail, the one you refer to regarding congressional retirement benefits is not accurate.

First, members of Congress are elected for two-year terms, not four-year terms. After only serving four years in office, former members of Congress are not entitled to a lifetime of retirement benefits at their same salary."

The Mississippi fax went on to note that, after 1984, Congress members pay into the same Federal Employees Retirement System (FERS) as any other federal employee. Before 1984, members of Congress contributed to and received retirement benefits from the Civil Service Retirement System.

FERS is funded just as other federal employee retirement plans by a mix of participant and employer contributions. As in most retirement plans, members of Congress are not vested in this pension system until five full years of service. Unless they have 20 years of service, former members cannot collect this pension before they are 62. All pay Social Security taxes.

"Just like any other pension plan, federal or private sector, the amount of pension a qualified former member receives is based on salary and years of service. No matter how many years (members serve) in Congress, they can never receive more than 80 percent of their salary."

For a punctuation mark, Beau Gex included the web site for "Urban Legends and Folklore," a site that gives the facts behind internet and email hoaxes. The address for this site is: <http://urbanlegends.miningco.com/>

To put it mildly, this whole e-mail caper is another wake-up call, alerting us to the mixed blessing of the electronic age. While there is no quarrel that electronics is a powerful gift, tool and blessing, it is equally apparent that we have a tiger by the tail. Literally, the entire world's electric systems are open to e-mailers too lazy to check facts, or to evil people intent on spreading lies.

Since time immemorial, we humans have been faced with the same basic problems of "Bad news travels fast" and few people go to any lengths to track down and separate the false from the true. Tailgating an incredible bias of numerous people toward finding what is false, negative, salacious, evil, electronics has multiplied unimaginably all our communication demons.

Now bad news travels faster than ever and can make many rings around the world within mere days. Licking their chops, hackers and numerous other cyber parasites gleefully assault the e-waves, spreading viruses and lies to eager, unsuspecting devotees of the exciting world of computers.

From the time we were knee-high to a grasshopper, all of us remember hearing urban legends of every kind and concerning virtually every subject under the sun. They were invariably highly interesting and entertaining, and became part of our daily diet of conversation pieces.

The problem was and is that many of them were nothing more than spicy, mysterious legends.

That kind of electricity and attraction poses a grave danger for us in our quest for truth nowadays because urban legends have exploded in number, are readily accessible to everyone, and are ripe and rife with abuse. Can we control the literally lightning transmissions around the world?

Hardly. There is no controlling the global e-waves, except in our own little sphere of life where we would do best for ourselves, our families and our communities to remember the time-honored axiom that freedom/truth is not free, and that the price of freedom is eternal vigilance.

Yes, evil/falsehood thrives wherever people of good will are too ignorant or too lazy to ferret it out by examining and comparing sources. Freedom and truth come at a stout price, but the benefits are more than worth it.

"If you remain in my word, you will truly be my disciples, and you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free" (John 8:31,32).

The "Word" for the Week A Day to Keep

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Stalling, KS 67579

Are weekends for beer and parties? Not really.

Weekends are for folks like you and me. You probably enjoy your weekends. You enjoy time off from work and a break from the Monday through Friday grind.

Amazingly enough, this confirms God's plan for you. You see, God's plan includes at least one day of rest out of every seven.

During that day you are to rest from your regular work. You are also to take a break from your usual recreational activities. God has given you six days each week to accomplish your work at the office and at home.

When God completed all His work of creation, "He rested on the seventh day from all His work which He had done" (Genesis 2:2).

So you are to follow God's example. But when you take time off from your work and recreations, you are not to be idle. You are to take up another very special duty. Yes, God rested on the seventh day. But "Then God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it" (Genesis 2:3).

In other words, God set aside one day in seven to be a day of rest and worship. The early Christians took this very seriously. They regularly met for worship on the first day of the week.

They called the first day of every week the "Lord's Day" (Revelation 1:10) because Christ was raised from the dead on the first day of the week. So you too are called to a day of rest and worship each week.

You should also take this seriously and follow what the Bible has to say in Hebrews 10:24-25, "Let us consider how to stimulate one another to love and good deeds, not forsaking our own assembling together, as is the habit of some."

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

Things God Can't Do

God can't stop loving you. "I have loved you with an everlasting love: therefore with loving kindness have I drawn you." Jeremiah 31:3

God can't be less than gracious. "The Lord is gracious, and full of compassion slow to anger, and of great mercy" Psalm 145:8

God can't be unfaithful. "They are new every morning, great is thy faithfulness." Lamentation 3:23

God can't be counseled. "For who has known the mind of the Lord or who has been his counselor?" Romans 11:34

God can't be pleased without faith. "But without faith it is impossible to please Him, for he that comes to God must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarded of them that diligently seek Him." Hebrews 11:6

God can't be selfish. "He that spared not His own son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall He not with him also freely give us all things." Romans 8:32

God can't break a promise. "My covenant will I not break, nor alter the things that is gone out of my lips." Psalms 89:34

God can't be unforgiving to those who ask forgiveness. "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." 1 John 1:9

However, God can't make you give your life to Him; or put Him first in your life. We have a free will. Must of us like it that way.

Stanislaus names Teacher of the Year

SSC faculty, staff honored in recognition ceremony at Diamondhead

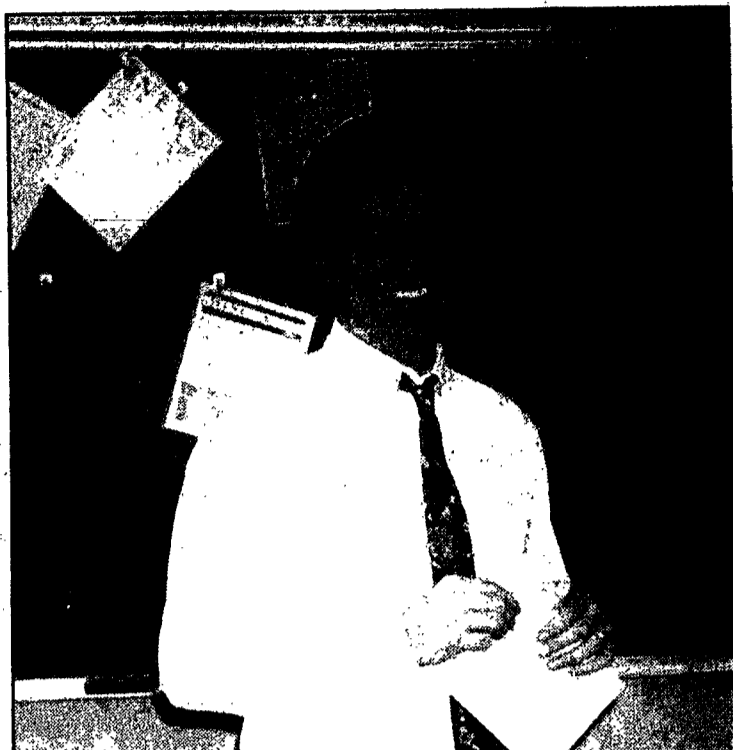

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Stephen Flannery was honored as the Teacher of the Year at the annual St. Stanislaus High School Faculty and Staff Recognition Ceremony on Saturday, March 22, 2003, at Diamondhead Country Club, according to Brother Ronald Hingle, SC, Principal.

Mr. Flannery, English teacher and cross country coach, was nominated by his peers and selected by the SSC Administration and SSC Board of Directors.

According to one of the nominators, "If you observe this teacher in action, you see, a father-figure, a big brother, and a close friend all rolled into one. The boys love and admire him because he is the same person day after day? upbeat and positive." Another nominator described Mr. Flannery as "a team player who always does his share of the work and who lives the life of a Christian."

Thirty other faculty/staff members were recognized for their years of ministry at St. Stanislaus. These included the following for five years of service: Ms. Vickie Alexander and Mrs. Nancy Genin, kitchen staff; Mrs. Christie Trosclair and Ms. Vernice Garvin, Brothers, dispensary nurses; Mr. Stephen Collins, weekend prefect; Mr. Stephen Flannery, English teacher; Ms. Temple Lyons, maintenance staff; and Ms. Kathleen Van Dyke, students, dispensary nurse. For ten years of service at SSC, the following were honored: Brother Adrian Gaudin, director of guidance; Brother Charles Schilling, director of publications; Mrs. Pat Cousins, math teacher; Mr. Mark Cumella, assistant admissions director; Brother Donnan Berry, province treasurer; Brother Francis Fleming, landscape supervisor; Mrs. Renee Hamm, English teacher; Ms. Bonnie LaFontaine, kitchen staff; and Mrs. Helen Simpson, academic assistance chairperson.

For fifteen years of service at SSC, the following were honored: Mr. Fred Cherota, science teacher; Mr. Andy Kivlan, health and driver's education teacher; Mrs. Faye Knight, director of food services; Brother Xavier Weneth, director of the brothers, residence; and Brother Lee Barker, magic club moderator.

For twenty years of service at SSC, the following were honored: Mr. Tom Ackerman, Spanish teacher; Mr. Dale Moran, social studies teacher; and Mr. Jerry Spell, physical education teacher.

Very special recognitions were bestowed on six faculty and staff members. They include Brother Raymond Sylve, prefect, for thirty-five years of service; Brother Eduardo Baldiodeda and Brother Joseph Donovan, prefects, for forty years; Brother Roy Reinecke for forty years; and Brother Noel Lemmon, director of transportation, for forty-five years.

Mr. Matt McKiernan, religion teacher, was recognized in a special way for being named Star Teacher this school year.

Each member of the faculty and staff also received a St. Stanislaus umbrella with the Sesquicentennial logo of the school on it. "This was a way of saying a special thank you to all of our faculty and staff," explained Brother Ronald Hingle.

St. Stanislaus College is a Catholic residency and day school for young men in grades 6-12. The school fosters character formation and integrates faith development within a curriculum which is primarily college preparatory.

The Charlie Daniels Band makes Memorial weekend visit to Casino Magic Bay St. Louis

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Charlie Daniels Band will make a visit to Casino Magic Bay St. Louis over Memorial weekend with two shows Friday and Saturday, May 23 & 24, each show at 9 p.m. Tickets are $14.95, $19.95 and $24.95 and are available at Casino Magic Box Office or any Ticketmaster location.

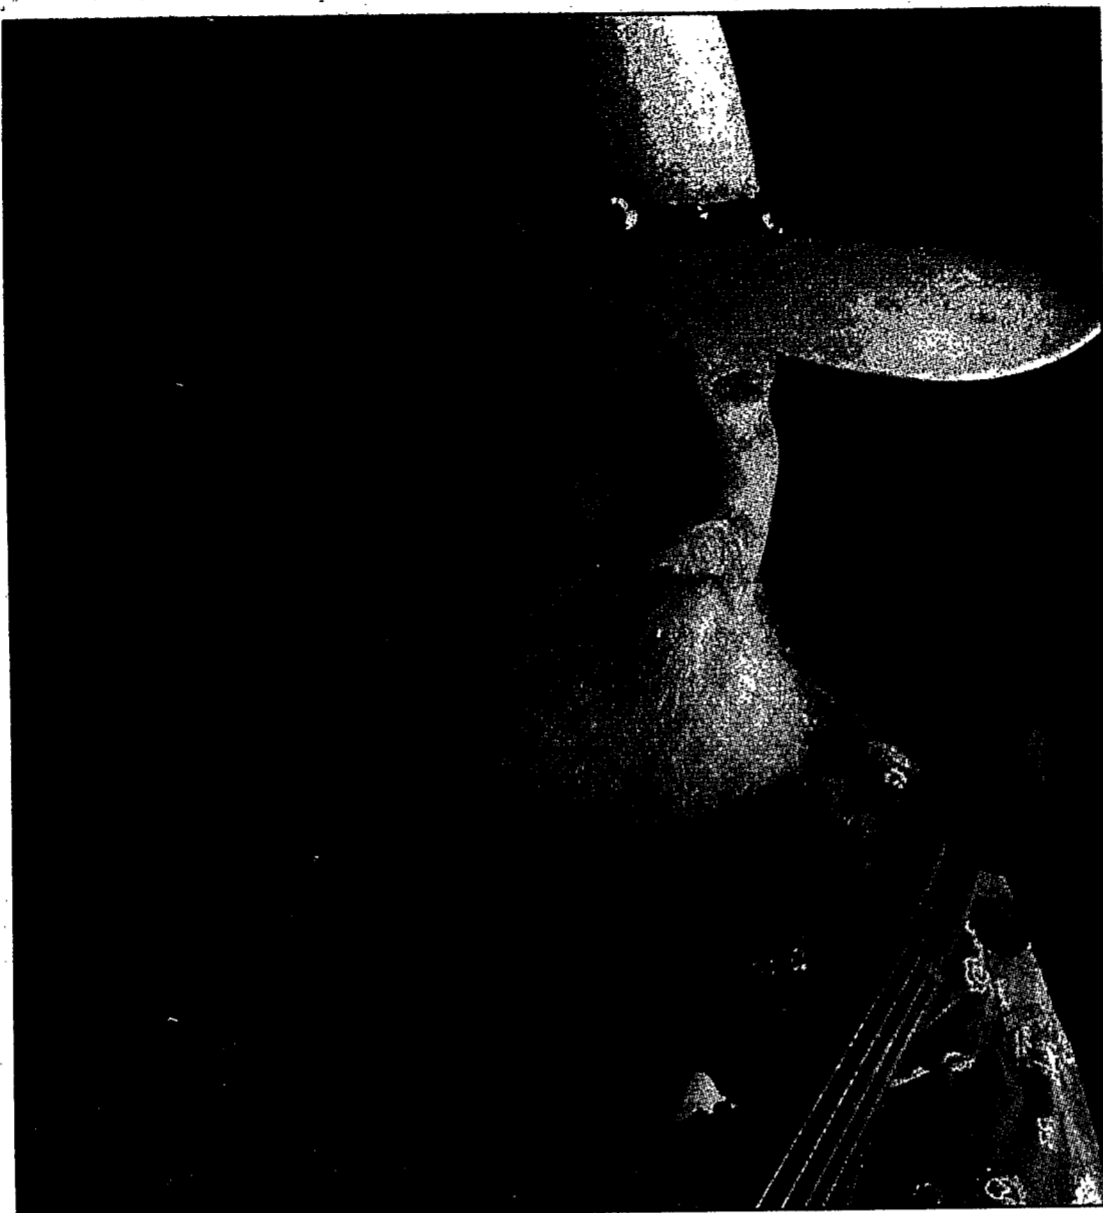

Like the State of Texas, Charlie Daniels is partly Western and partly Southern. His signature "bullrider" hat and belt buckle, his lifestyle on the Twin Pines Ranch (a boyhood dream come true), his love of horses, cowboy lore and the heroes of championship rodeo, Western movies, and Louis L'Amour novels, identify him as a Westerner. The son of a lumberjack and a Southerner by birth, his music - rock, country, bluegrass, blues, gospel - is quintessentially Southern. In fact, even his bent for all things Western is Southern, because his attire, his lifestyle and his interests are historically emblematic of Southern working class solidarity with the "lone cowboy" individualism of the American West. It hasn't been so much a style of music, but more the values consistently reflected in several styles that has connected Charlie Daniels with millions of fans.

For decades, he has steadfastly refused to label his music as anything other than "CDB music", music that is now sung around the fire at 4-H Club and scout camps, helped elect an American President, and been popularized on a variety of radio formats.

Daniels broke through as a record maker with 1973's "Honey In the Rock" and its hit hippie song, "Uneasy Rider." His rebel anthems "Long Haired Country Boy" and "The South's Gonna Do It" propelled his 1975 collection "Fire On the Mountain" to Double Platinum status.

Epic Records signed him to its rock roster in New York in 1976. In the summer of 1979 Daniels rewarded the company's faith by delivering "The Devil Went Down to Georgia," which became a Platinum single, topped both country and pop charts, won a Grammy Award, became an international phenomenon, earned three Country Music Association trophies, became a cornerstone of the "Urban Cowboy" movie soundtrack and propelled

Charlie Daniels

Daniel's "Million Mile Reflections" album to Triple Platinum sales levels. By 1981, the Charlie Daniels Band had twice been voted the Academy of Country Music's Touring Band of the Year. "Full Moon," issued in 1980, became Daniel's third Platinum album. "Simple Man" is also Platinum while "A Decade of Hits" is Triple Platinum, and "Windows", "Saddle Tramp" and "Midnight Wind" are Gold. He earned a Dove Award from the Gospel Music Association for The Door, and a CMA nomination for his remake of "Long Haired Country Boy" featuring John Berry and Hal Ketchum. "Amazing Grace: A Country Salute to Gospel," a compilation album including Daniels' "Kneel at the Cross," garnered a Grammy Award. His "By the Light of the Moon: Campfire Songs & Cowboy Tunes", "Christmas Time Down South" and "Blues Hat" albums added further layers to his multifaceted style. With an unerring instinct for the universal ties that bind people together and an equal abhorrence for the intolerance and fear that do the opposite, Charlie Daniels has kept the specifics of his cultural heritage as the soul of the CDB music that has impacted the lives of everyday people everywhere. Come hear The Charlie Daniels Band at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis May 23 & 24. Must be at least 21 years of age to attend.

Sign up now for BSLLT kids' theatre workshop

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will conduct a Children's Summer Theater Workshop from June 9 to July 12. The workshop is open to all children ages 5 to 17, including high school seniors. The workshop will teach children the theater's process in creating and performing completed productions. The children will construct and paint the set, learn about backstage work and will perform in Rogers and Hammerstein's musical "Free To Be... You And Me."

The cost of the workshop is $25 per child and will include a T-shirt, certificate and one complimentary ticket for the show. The workshop will accommodate up to 50 children. A limited number of scholarships are available to children in need. Individual and corporate sponsors are needed to support this show and scholarship program.

Alastair Mackenzie

Checking in with Alastair Mackenzie

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

"I'm in Scotland, and you're in Santa Monica," Alastair Mackenzie says. "Aren't telephones weird? I was skiing in the Alps recently when somebody called me. I was sitting on a chair lift."

The star of BBC America's Scottish comedy-drama "Monarch of the Glen" then looks out his window and reports all he surveys.

"It's incredibly beautiful. We've had this amazing spring. I'm looking over the mountains. The sun is just setting over there. There are lambs in the field and daffodils on the grass."

"But, God, I'd rather be in California!"

Mackenzie soon will get his wish, as he departs the Highlands at the end of June, having finished his tenure on "Monarch," partway through the series' fifth season.

Earlier seasons of the series air weekdays on BBC America, with new episodes from the season four of "Monarch of the Glen" airing in primetime on Wednesdays, after a short interruption for BBC News coverage of the war in Iraq.

Mackenzie plays Archie MacDonald, a London restaurateur who was hornswoggled by his daffy father (Richard Briers) into taking over Glenbogle, the crumbling family estate in the Scottish Highlands.

With Archie now married to former housekeeper Lexie (Dawn Steele) and the estate on firm footing, Mackenzie is looking to spread his wings in America.

"I can do Scottish accent and English. I'm perfecting my American accent. Whatever they want, I can do, I can learn."

Birthplace: Perth, Scotland (about 20 miles from where "Monarch of the Glen" now films).

Lives in: London, when not shooting the series.

Family ties: Three-year-old daughter with Scottish actress Susan Vidler ("Transpotting").

Good buddy: Irish actor Jason O'Mara, who worked in the second season of "Monarch" and now stars in CBS' CIA drama "The Agency."

Employment wish list for U.S. television: HBO's "Six Feet Under," NBC's "The West Wing" and Fox's "24."

Showtime takes subscribers back to Grover's Corners

By John Crook

One of the hottest recent tickets on Broadway had no nudity, no violence, no profanity. It also had no elaborate special effects. Heck, it almost had no scenery.

What this recent revival of Thornton Wilder's vintage "Our Town" had, though, was magic, the same benign spell this play set in Grover's Corners, N.H., has been casting since its 1938 premiere. Oh, and Paul Newman, too.

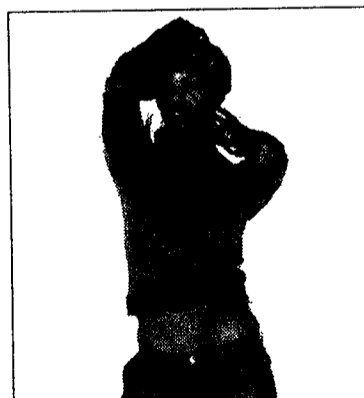

Newman's presence no doubt explains why this production was taped for PBS' "Masterpiece Theatre" series, where it will air next season, but Showtime subscribers this week get an advance look at the production starting Saturday, May 24.

Newman brings a discreet star presence to the role of the Stage Manager, but by and large the production, directed by actor James Naughton ("Cybill"), has an ensemble spirit, despite a few other familiar faces that include Jane Curtin, Frank Converse and Jayne Atkinson.

At the heart of the show is newcomer Maggie Lacey, whose Emily marries George, her high-school sweetheart, but learns how fragile life is only after her own untimely death in childbirth.

"We got a letter from a gentleman whose parents had met playing George and Emily in high school in the late '30s or early '40s - just right after the original production opened on Broadway," says Lacey, whose Emily marked her Broadway debut. "He sent us a picture of them in those roles. We found out there are so many George-and-Emilys who wound up getting married, following high school and college productions."

Apart from an only-in-New-York opening-night moment when an audience cell phone interrupted Emily's cathartic farewell speech, Lacey says the Broadway run felt very special.

The sun sets on 'Buffy the Vampire Slayer'

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

The late-April setting sun gilds the main street of Sunnydale, with its brick facades and vintage movie theater. The light also falls on hanging bits of wood and flapping blue tarp, because Sunnydale - that fictitious haunt of demons, vampires and all manner of evil - is now just a deserted TV set.

It's been about a week since production wrapped on the final episode of "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" in Santa Monica, Calif. While producers finish the last episodes for air, the cast already has scattered, including star Sarah Michelle Gellar, who is off to Vancouver, Canada, to work on the "Scooby-Doo" sequel.

After seven seasons, "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" signs off for good on Tuesday, May 20, on UPN, where it moved two years ago after a successful run on The WB Network.

"Buffy" turned an introspective screenwriter into a cult hero, a former soap-opera star into a pop icon, and a misunderstood and dismissed genre into fodder for everything from Internet mania to scholarly dissertations.

"The biggest surprise," says executive producer Marti Noxon, who joined the series as an entry-level story editor, "was how much this became part of pop culture. Even though 'Buffy,' let's face it, is a relatively small-scale television hit - it ain't 'American Idol' - but at the same time, it became woven into the fabric of pop culture.

"And given the fact that when I first got the job, people were feeling really sorry for me, that was some surprise."

"Buffy" began as a feature film written by Joss Whedon, who was not satisfied with how his concept was translated to the screen. He took back his idea - es-entially transforming the blond, teen victim of horror films into an uber-warrior against evil - and reworked it into a TV pilot, which didn't sell.

Following some tweaks and recasting, Whedon shot another pilot, which premiered in the spring of 1997.

"When I started the show," Whedon says, "I didn't know its full potential, because I just had the basic notion of 'It's hard to make it in high school,' and it'll be funny and involving and scary and really hip on things people can relate to."

"The basic idea that I think we're very true to, especially in the last episode, the empowerment of girls and the toughness of this life, was always there, but it grew beyond my best intention."

"It introduced a new kind of female hero," Noxon says, "one who was both super and super-real. She had a lot of human failings, but could also kick ass to save the world, which is something I didn't see a lot of growing up."

"I saw either idealized women with no problems who saved the world or women who were basically taking care of families and getting hit in the nose with footballs."

In its high-school years, "Buffy" happily mixed wisecracks, kung-fu fighting and every possible horror-movie cliché as it magnified ordinary teen problems to apocalyptic proportions.

That was literally true when Buffy's first sexual experience, with soulful vampire Angel (David Boreanaz), began a chain of events that nearly ended the world. Unsafe sex, indeed.

When the story moved to college and young adulthood, life got more complicated, and Buffy suspected the source of her power to do good might be rooted in the darkest evil.

Buffy's struggles with love, loss and maturity escalated until the only release she could find was in self-sacrifice. And even death in the fifth-season finale was not enough to free Buffy, as UPN picked up the show, and Buffy's witch friend Willow (Alyson Hannigan) defied nature to drag the Slayer back from paradise.

James Marsters plays Spike, a vampire who sought a soul and redemption for the love of a woman, in "Buffy the Vampire Slayer," which has its series finale Tuesday on UPN.

This season, Buffy again faces an apocalypse, with little more than her ex-lover, the reformed vampire Spike (James Marsters); a few friends; a gaggle of barely trained potential slayers; and her own fierce determination to sustain her.

"Buffy's taken on the mantle of being the general in this army," Noxon says, "and she's taken it very seriously. I've often said that I feel like this season is the Joss Whedon story. It's not easy being a genius. It's not easy being in charge. There are costs. It's lonely up there."

Arnold lends voice to Arby's Oven Mitt

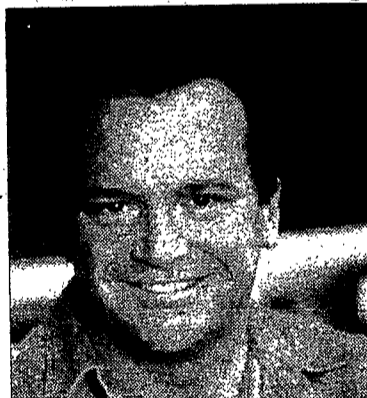

By Taylor Michaels

Q Is that Tom Arnold's voice behind the talking oven mitt on the Arby's commercials? -James Clemens, Michigan City, Ind.

A Nice catch, James! Yes, that's Roseanne's ex-husband and "The Best Damn Sports Show Period" regular lending his voice to Oven Mitt, the character featured in Arby's current $85 million advertising campaign.

Q I am a big fan of "That '70s Show" and its star, Topher Grace. What else has he done or (does he) have coming up? -R. Allen, Sea Isle City, N.J.

A Topher (his preferred nickname for his given name, Christopher) Grace got a lucky break when "That '70s Show" co-creators Bonnie and Terry Turner saw him in a school play with their daughter. Impressed by his natural talents, the Turners cast Grace as

Tom Arnold

Eric Forman despite his lack of professional experience.

The actor, now 24, has delivered on that early promise in a big way, turning in a strong performance as a preppy drug abuser in "Traffic" with Michael Douglas. He co-stars with Julia Roberts, Kirsten Dunst, Julia Stiles and several other hot actors in "Mona Lisa Smile," a film drama set for release next December, and is in production on the romantic comedy "Win a Date With Tad Hamilton!" co-starring Kate Bosworth ("The Rules of Attraction") and Josh Duhamel ("All My Children").

Q Recently on a morning show I heard part of an announcement that Food Network chef Emeril Lagasse and his wife had become parents. Can you provide any details? -Eleanor D., Buffalo, N.Y.

A Lagasse and his wife, Alden, welcomed Emeril Lagasse Jr. on Monday, March 31. Lagasse also has two daughters from a previous marriage.

Q On a recent talk show appearance, ABC News anchor Peter Jennings referred to his wife, who is also a reporter. Who is she? -Karen Moore, Hot Springs, S.D.

A Kayce Freed, Jennings' wife, currently is a producer for the ABC news magazine "20/20." They've been married since Dec. 6, 1997.

'Law & Order' airs its 300th episode with no end in sight

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Nielsen ratings only measure a TV series' viewership. Gauging its relevance is far trickier.

Sometimes, it is reflected in the pervasiveness of a saying, such as "yadda, yadda, yadda" from "Seinfeld," or the popularity of the "Hi, Bob!" college drinking game, a reference to the 1970s sitcom "The Bob Newhart Show."

The latest such phenomenon is the "Law & Order" challenge, where New York theatergoers thumb through Playbill in search of an actor biography without a "Law & Order" credit. That's how ubiquitous this show has become on actors' resumes. Incidentally, it also has terrific Nielsen ratings - appearing in the top 10 weekly - which is astounding for a show in its 13th season.

On Wednesday, May 21, "Law & Order" reaches a milestone with its 300th episode, "Smoke." Like most of its story lines, this one is inspired by actual events - in this case, a celebrity dangling a baby off a hotel balcony a la Michael Jackson. "It's the hook of the headline," executive producer Michael S. Chernuchin explains. "What could have been, should have been. I don't do re-creations."

Even by the series' standard of unflinching honesty, this episode's story line - pedophilia - is dark. The script has the elements of a Greek tragedy - betrayal, bribery and death.

As actors rehearse, Chernuchin says, "I used to go to the theater and if they weren't on 'Law & Order,' I would think, 'What's wrong with them?' I would love to know the number of guest actors who have passed through over the years."

The eclectic list includes Jane Alexander, Dylan Baker, Jill Clayburgh, Taye Diggs, Sandy Duncan, Rudy Giuliani, Samuel L. Jackson, Allison Janney, James Earl Jones, Vincent Pastore, Julia Roberts and Eli Wallach.

Many characters, however, are so realistic that viewers wonder how the director cajoled a junkie into memorizing lines. "I'm not big on stunt casting," Chernuchin says. "I want it to look real."

Indeed, everything seems authentic on this set tucked away in a nondescript building on a pier on the Hudson River. The squad room has a composite sketch of the East Side Rapist (a real criminal) hanging on a bulletin board, battered desks and insipid green paint adorning the walls. In the office of District Attorney Arthur Branch (who is played by real-life lawyer and former Sen. Fred Dalton Thompson), one can find his New York State Bar certificate, fly-fishing paraphernalia and personal photos, along with actual law books lining the walls. Assistant District Attorney Jack McCoy's (Sam Waterston) office has a photo of Wrigley Field and his University of Chicago diploma.

That type of attention to detail carries over to depicting the finer points of law. "I won't cheat on the law," says Chernuchin, who describes himself as a "recovering lawyer." "If it's a problem, I make it a plot point."

Viewers expect as much, says Jerry Orbach, who has played the hard-boiled police Detective Lennie Briscoe since 1992. Doing a crossword puzzle in his dressing room, which is decorated with framed posters from Broadway shows he has starred in, Orbach explains why "Law & Order" is a hit.

"It's consistent and people can count on what they are going to get," he says. "They don't have to know what happened last week or tune in next week. It follows a fairly rigid formula and people are comfortable with that."

Viewers stayed faithful to the show even as the cast changed. Four seasons ago, Jesse L. Martin came on as police Detective Ed Green, replacing the popular Benjamin Bratt, who portrayed police Detective Reynaldo Curtis.

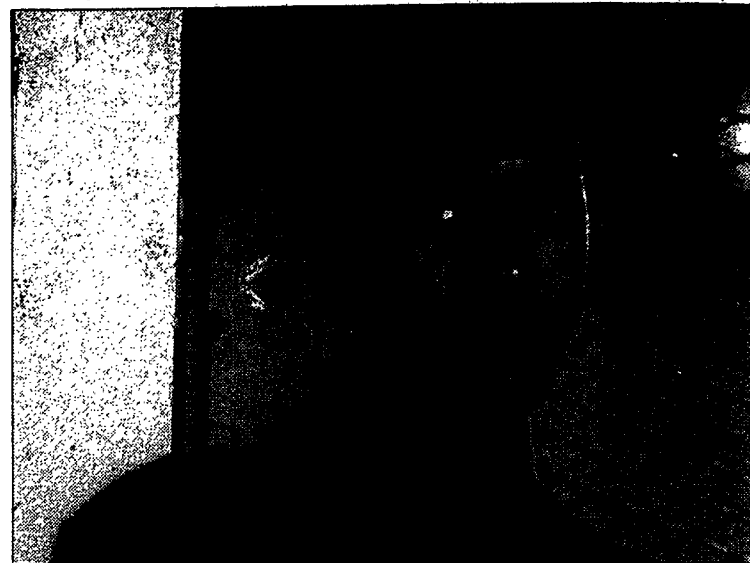

Martin admits he was jittery. "When I first got here, I was really nervous because I was dealing with high-profile actors," he says in his dressing room, where a Marvin Gaye LP cover hangs above his desk. "I knew everybody loved Ben ... I can't tell you how comfortable they have made me."

Like his co-stars, Martin has no plans to quit. "Every actor in the world wants to be in New York," he says. "You can't ask for a better series."

S. Epatha Merkerson, Lieutenant Anita Van Buren for the past 10 seasons, left the theater for the series after guest-starring as another character during the first season. "From then on, I became a huge fan of the show," she says, "and I was doing a lot of theater then, so I always taped it."

These days, the spinoff series "Law & Order: Special Victims Unit" and "Law & Order: Criminal Intent" and repeats of the original series on TNT and A&E Network give viewers the unique opportunity to sample the franchise up to 30 times a week, according to Michael Jackson, chairman of Universal Television Group, the show's studio.

The show "was an accidental success," Jackson says at a celebration for the 300th episode. "It was ordered by Fox and dropped. It was piloted by CBS and dropped, and in the first season, it ranked 59th."

Jesse L. Martin is in his fourth season as Detective Edward Green on the long-running NBC drama "Law & Order," which presents its 300th episode Wednesday.

Over the years, as other shows abandoned New York for the sunnier climes of Los Angeles, or to save money in Toronto, creator and executive producer Dick Wolf insisted his series remain in the city that is its setting. For this loyalty - plus employing 1,800 people a year and pumping $1 million a week into the local economy - Mayor Michael Bloomberg proclaimed April 8 Law & Order Day.

As photographers snap pictures of the cast and executives, Thompson remarks, "I am lucky to cross the 300th episode finish line with all of these people."

Sam Waterston, who since 1994 has infused McCoy with integrity, says of the character, "I hope he doesn't change."

Elisabeth Rohm, who joined the cast in 2001, feels similarly about the assistant district attorney she plays. "Serena Southerlyn is teaching me every single day about my intellect and the world I'm living in," she says of her character. "I'm totally hooked and committed."

CBS' 'Hitler' explores how a crude lunatic rose to power

By John Crook
© Zap2it

The horrors of Hitler's Third Reich have been amply and vividly cataloged by films such as "Schindler's List" and TV projects such as the "Holocaust" miniseries.

Now, a new TV movie tries to fill in the blanks concerning the earlier years of Hitler's life, when he began to rise from the rank of mediocre artist and unremarkable soldier, and started his slow transformation into a charismatic madman.

"Hitler: The Rise of Evil," a two-part, four-hour CBS movie premiering Sunday and Tuesday, May 18 and 20, stars Scottish actor Robert Carlyle as a shockingly callow Hitler, backed by an international cast that includes Stockard Channing, Peter O'Toole, Liev Schreiber, Julianna Margulies and Jena Malone, with Chris Larkin as Hermann Goering.

Among the first surprises revealed by Carlyle and screenwriter John Pielmeier ("Agnes of God") is the fact there was nothing particularly shrewd nor subtle about Hitler's crusade during these early years. He was shrilly screaming, "Get rid of the Jews!" right out of the gate, as it were, and it was that crudeness and lack of finesse that, ironically, may have worked in his favor, Carlyle says.

"Among people of sophistication and influence, it must have been impossible to take Hitler seriously," the actor says, his off-camera burr jarring wildly against the memory of the clipped speech used in his performance. "Hitler sounded like a clown, and he dressed weirdly, too. His speeches were so shrill that a lot of people assumed he couldn't be speaking literally, or that at least, he would 'forget' about these extreme attitudes once he got some authority."

"These people, who should have done the right thing and denounced him from the very beginning, had the terrible notion that they could 'handle' Hitler and exploit him to their own ends, so they groomed him and gave him credibility. Of course, before they knew it, he was completely out of control."

Carlyle, who undergoes a startling transformation into his screen character without elaborate assistance from makeup, says he was on edge during the first couple of weeks of filming, trying to ensure he had the character's mannerisms down.

"I couldn't draw on anything within - oh, please, God, don't let there be anything of him inside me! - so I was forced to focus on the exterior details. After a while, though, I was able to relax and slip in and out of character pretty easily."

Indeed, it was jarring to watch Carlyle shift from hyper madman to his own sunny disposition when the director called cut, says executive producer Peter Sussman.

"Some of that intense aura would linger around Bobby," Sussman says. "I would notice cast and crew members kind of giving him a wide berth when he finished one of his scenes. It's a testament to his talent."

Indeed, Sussman was made so uneasy by the re-creation of a scene in which Hitler is named chancellor that he ordered all Nazi flags, uniforms and props destroyed as soon as filming was completed.

"I couldn't bear to think of those big swastikas or any of those other items, and there were so many, winding up on eBay for bidding by who knows?" Sussman comments. "I said, 'Make a list of (all that stuff), then put it in a box.' We burned it, all of it, and I filmed it going up in flames."

Robert Carlyle ("The Full Monty") gives a riveting performance as a madman on a political ascent in "Hitler: The Rise of Evil," a two-part, four-hour movie premiering Sunday and concludes Tuesday on CBS.

'Outside the Lines Nightly' went inside war

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

When ESPN debuted "Outside the Lines Nightly" at the start of the war in Iraq, some wondered what a sports network was doing covering hard news.

In fact, some of those voices came from within ESPN.

"Oh absolutely," says Bob Ley, host of the midnight weeknight telecast, as well as its Sunday morning edition. "Yeah, there absolutely were thoughtful people who raised very valid questions about what is this going to be; do we understand what the pitfalls may be? There's no doubt about that, and they were listened to. I had as many questions as anybody, but I felt that we have a lot of very smart people here who, above it all, I think understand our place on a sports network in a time of war."

But this wasn't war coverage in the sense of embedded journalists, military press conferences and combat footage. The angle "Outside the Lines Nightly" pursued related to how the sports world reacted to developments in the Middle East.

That's somewhat of a departure from the original plan for "OTL Nightly." Initially conceived as a sports version of "Nightline," the show's June rollout was moved up to March 21 because of the war's outbreak, ending nearly four weeks later following the fall of Baghdad. After a monthlong hiatus, "OTL Nightly" returned last week in its intended form.

Though the "OTL Nightly" team may never cover such a story again, Ley feels that doing a war-related show was a good experience. "We basically geared up on very little notice to do nightly shows based on the war," he says. "And that presented a great challenge in two regards: The lead time was next to negligible - you know, there wasn't much at all. And also, we were walking a pretty fine line there between what will work and what could be, you know, over the line. My God, there's no qualification between the two things. I mean, the war is the most important thing happening in our country, and sports is just the toy shop, and it was a challenge. But I tell you, I'm very proud of the show. It's been four weeks. But we did some interesting shows. ... So it was a good exercise for us. I'm proud of the stuff we produced."

Among them were segments on how athletes viewed the war. "I thought some of the most interesting things we did during the war were speaking to international athletes," Ley says, "like John Amaechi of the Utah Jazz, who was offended at the jingoism that he saw around his team and the NBA; Steve Nash (a vocal war opponent), obviously; Adonal Foyle, who's from St. Vincent and the Grenadines, with the Golden State Warriors; and Tariq Abdul-Wahad of the Mavs, who's a French Muslim - hey, there's a nice combination to bring to the table in a situation like this. And asking these guys, 'What don't Americans understand? What is it that we need to know about either your country or your faith or whatever to help us understand your point of view?' And I think that was some of the most interesting television that we did."

According to Ley, ESPN made the original decision to go nightly with "Outside the Lines" in part because of an overflow of ideas from the Sunday show. "Some days, there aren't going to be any major, compelling, overarching issues," he says. "But I think many days, there are. ... I mean, on any given day, I think any thoughtful group of people can see that there is going to be an issue, there's going to be something there that you can build from. But at the same time, we're going to also put a lot of good stories together that would be similar to the ones you might see on Sunday morning that are good yarns, good stories about people you may not have heard of. Even 'Nightline' doesn't throw its fastball at your head every night. You know, they're going to throw some off-speed stuff on the corner, and we're going to do that, too. You have to throw change-ups."

And you have to keep your audience interested enough to stay up until midnight during the workweek. "I think we know how to tell the stories in a way that'll keep and compel people to stay up," Ley says. "It's a different challenge, keeping people up at night than it is as they get up with you on Sunday morning. I mean, it's the other end of the biorhythmic cycle."

"Indianapolis 500 Time Trials" Sunday, May 18 (ABC, 4 p.m. ET): It's called "Bump Day" for a reason. Putting the pedal to the floor and then controlling the car at 200-plus mph won't be good enough for some during the final day of qualifying for the May 25 Indianapolis 500. Those who make the 33-car field today will be racing in a star-studded lineup featuring two-time defending champion Helio Castroneves and multiple Indy winners Al Unser Jr. and Arie Luyendyk, making it one of the strongest fields in the 500's 87-year history.

"Philadelphia Phillies at Houston Astros" Sunday, May 18 (ESPN, 8 p.m. ET): It's the middle of May, which means slugger Jim Thome's bat should be heating up, if it hasn't already.

Thome, the Philadelphia Phillies prize offseason free-agent signing, is a notorious slow starter, but a year ago he hit 17 home runs and drove in 37 in May and June. He's adapting to a new league, and National League pitchers are learning that they can't throw a fastball by him. Thome and the Phils battle the Houston Astros tonight.

"The Colonial, First Round" Thursday, May 22 (USA Network, 4 p.m. ET): Not since 1945 when Babe Zaharias made history has a woman played in a PGA Tour event. Until today, that is, when Annika Sorenstam repeats the feat at the Colonial in Fort Worth, Texas. Her record-setting LPGA career has afforded her this chance, and she knows her course management skills will have to be at their best for her to even make the cut. Last year, Nick Price won his first Tour event since 1998 and second Colonial with a 13-under 267.

6 p.m. and USA

Movie: Liar Liar

When a lying lawyer (Jim Carrey) is magically forced to tell the truth for 24 hours, thanks to his son's (Justin Cooper) birthday wish, major chaos ensues in both his personal and professional lives. Carrey's rubber face gets a hilarious workout as his character tries to fight the spell and form a fib. Maura Tierney ("NewsRadio," "ER") and Cary Elwes ("Twister") also star in this 1997 comedy.

Monday

12 p.m. on FAM

Movie: Crocodile Dundee

An American reporter (Linda Kozlowski) travels to Australia to interview a well-known safari guide and poacher (Paul Hogan) who earned the nickname "Crocodile" after defeating one of the reptiles with his bare hands. She is so taken with him that she decides to bring him back to New York with her. Directed by Peter Faiman, the 1986 comedy also stars John Meillon and David Gulpilil.

Tuesday

7 p.m. on 19-PBS

Nova

In "Lincoln's Secret Weapon," a team of marine archaeologists and Navy divers attempts to raise the legendary Civil War ironclad ship Monitor from its watery grave. The dangerous depths and rough seas provide plenty of drama, as do the views of the decaying but still impressive old ship, which survived Confederate cannonballs only to go down in a storm off the coast of North Carolina in 1862.

Wednesday

6 a.m. on AMC

Movie: The Red Pony

Based on the story by John Steinbeck, this 1949 drama stars Peter Miles as Florida farm boy Tom Tiflin, who is given a beautiful red pony. Tom cares for the animal with the help of his father's hired hand (Robert Mitchum), but when the pony becomes ill, Tom turns on the hand and blames him for its condition. Eventually, he must learn to forgive.

Greatest Wildlife Show on Earth

British naturalist David Attenborough is the guide for a 12-month, 12-destination tour of the world's most incredible animal spectacles. Included are a flock of 50 million monarch butterflies, hundreds of thousands of crabs, multitudes of wildebeest and packs of hungry grizzlies.

Saturday

9:30 a.m. on USA

Movie: Beethoven

While it's hard to say whether this 1992 hit sent people stampeding to their local St. Bernard dog breeder, it did pack them into theaters to see the slap-happy tale of a conservative suburban father (Charles Grodin) forced to deal with 185 pounds of slobbering pooch. Bonnie Hunt, Dean Jones and David Duchovny also star in the film.

TV Trivia

Queen Latifah ("Dueling Divas"), a former Burger King employee, vowed to respond to male rappers' misogynistic lyrics with classier content.

Kenny Chesney ("The 38th Annual Academy of Country Music Awards") was raised in Luttrell, Tenn., the hometown of Chet Atkins.

Bryan Cranston ("Malcolm in the Middle") did English dubbing for a Japanese cartoon under the name Lee Stone.

Sarah Michelle Gellar ("Buffy the Vampire Slayer"), an eclectic collector, fancies books, platinum and diamonds.

Sarah Clarke ("24") and her husband, Xander Berkeley, both have played turncoat government agents who tried to assassinate the president.

Its stopwatch began ticking three-and-a-half decades ago and hasn't stopped yet. The venerable newsmagazine series marks its 35th anniversary with a two-hour special excerpting some of the most memorable stories and interviews the show has presented.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

American Dreams

The drama series' maiden season concludes with "Nowhere to Run," as race riots erupt in Philadelphia. Nathan (Keith Robinson) is immersed in the violence while Pete (Matthew John Armstrong) tries to stop it. Meg (Brittany Snow) gets swept up in the chaos as she tries to salvage her friendship with Sam (Arlen Escapeta). JJ (Will Estes) makes a decision after losing his football-team spot.

The Simpsons

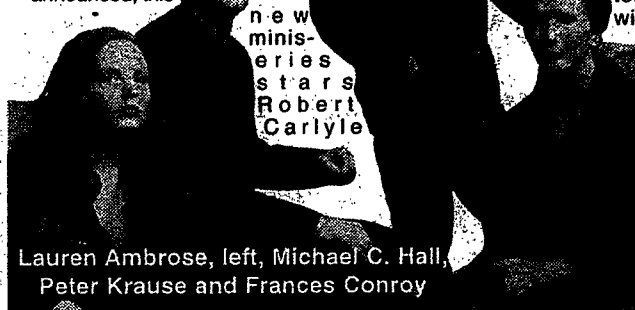

Hank Azaria played a dog sitter on "Mad About You," and as the voice of the character Moe, he plays baby sitter as this animated comedy ends its 14th season with "Moe Baby Blues." Homer and Marge (voices of Dan Castellaneta and Julie Kavner) allow Moe to mind Maggie, but they have a hard time adjusting to his suddenly gentler persona. Joe Mantegna ("The Godfather, Part III") also provides a guest voice.

All My Children

After Bianca saw Lena steal the formula from Erica's safe, Lena confessed to Bianca that Michael would have imprisoned her mother if she didn't go along with his demands. Michael's father, Alexander, arrived at his son's condo after Erica called him. Meanwhile, Kendall listened as Michael sold her out while sealing his deal with Erica to buy her shares of Enchantment. In hiding with Maria and Maddie, Aidan feared that Maria's returning memory could lead to the end of their relationship. Evan escaped from Wildwind after grabbing Edmund's cell phone. Reggie warned Joni and Jack that they could be in danger from Luis. Coming: Bianca refuses to forgive Lena.

As the World Turns

Learning from Dusty that Barbara hired him to break up his romance with Rose, Paul confronted Barbara and then left town. However, word came back to Oakdale that Paul's plane never landed. Barbara fumed when she saw her ideas incorporated into Carly's designs and demanded that Carly, Craig, Rose and Emily be arrested. Everyone but Carly was charged with design theft. Dusty enlisted Spangler - the man he owes money to - to set him up to be murdered as a way to scam Molly. Katie knew someone who could get Bob the medical help he needs. Coming: Rosanna plays it tough with Carly.

Bold and Beautiful

Eric's world fell apart when Stephanie finally told him that Ridge isn't his son and he realized that Massimo is Ridge's father. Ridge tried giving support to Eric, who had moved out, but was torn by his tie to Massimo. Ridge and Bridget each arrived at the Big Bear cabin looking for Eric, unaware that he'd been there and gone. Encouraged by Massimo, Nick consoled Brooke and convinced her that there's a whole world awaiting her that doesn't involve Ridge. Coming: Things get heated between Bridget and Ridge.

Days of Our Lives

Belle made it to the final round of "Love is Blind" and was stunned to find out that the mystery man is Philip Kirakis. Brady immediately became concerned by Philip's interest in Chloe, while Shawn had to deal with Philip and Belle acting like a couple for the dating show. Thrilled with the power it brings, Lucas accepted Tony's offer to secretly take over the daily operations of Echelon. Bo resigned from the police force in order to track down Vin. Coming: Cassie likes what she sees in Lucas.

General Hospital

Ric blackmailed Courtney into accepting his marriage proposal by threatening to frame Jason for Fowler's murder. However, Jason took Ric at gunpoint and escaped with Ric's evidence, the tire iron. A jealous Faith tried to do away with Elizabeth, who later learned that she's pregnant and made plans to have it terminated. Maxie was crushed when Kyle confessed that he knew about the Webcam of their tryst, but she still refused to name him as the boy in bed with her. Emily learned that the cancer has spread to her lymph nodes. Coming: Faith goes after Elizabeth with evil intent.

Guiding Light

Alan pulled strings to get Gus reinstated on the force, but managed to keep his influence a secret. Phillip vowed to fight back against Alan's plan to bring

Gus into the family as his heir. Cassie came face to face with Jeffrey and was floored by his resemblance to Richard. Marina and Tammy landed in jail after they drove off in Ben's car. Reva was angry over the baseball agent's suggestion that Shayne skip college, but Josh still had big plans for Shayne's career and kept them secret from Reva. Coming: Philli confronts Gus.

One Life to Live

After Dorian taped Mitch's confession, she drove him to a rage by revealing that Jessica has been working against him. Mitch lunged for Dorian and fell into the river, where everyone presumed he died. Mitch, however, was actually rescued by a mystery man. Dorian went ballistic when Mitch's will left everything to Jessica. Meanwhile, Blair found the Badhra diamond in Mitch's jacket and asked R.J. about finding a discreet buyer. To prevent Rex from participating in the heist, Antonio got him tossed in jail. Coming: Mitch vows revenge on Jessica.

Passions

As a hurt and angry Beth watched Sheridan and Luis pledge their love, Charlie made a "special" place for Sheridan in Beth's basement. Whitney feared she and Chad could be half-siblings, a prospect that secretly delighted Fox. As they later believed they couldn't be related, Eve prepared to tell her family the truth. After Sam rebuffed Grace's attempts to get him back, David reached out to her. Grace later told Sam of her plans to go away with David to relive their past, hoping to prove once and for all that she doesn't have feelings for her so-called husband. Coming: Liz spills the beans to T.C.

Port Charles

Rafe entered Joshua's mind and learned where the antidote was. After stealing the drug, Rafe lied and told Livvie he couldn't get it. Livvie became concerned to see a new closeness developing between Caleb and Alison. Casey comforted a grieving Jamal and ended up telling him that Alison isn't dead. Jamal then surprised Casey with a kiss. Rafe also told Ian and Lucy that Alison is alive. Karen treated Kevin after Elizabeth stabbed him and discovered the syringe of drugs in his pocket. Coming: Rafe realizes that Caleb is still dangerous.

Young and Restless

J.T. and Anita shared a goodbye kiss, putting their tryst behind them. Colleen, witnessing the embrace, was devastated. Agreeing to keep their distance for a while, Jill and Frederick shared a kiss, which Brittany saw. Brittany refused to believe her father's claim that Frederick isn't having an affair. Chris surprised Paul and told him the truth about Michael and Isabella's scheme to keep them apart, as they finally came together in an embrace. John added up the facts and told Charlotte that he knows she isn't Jill's mother. Coming: Colleen puts J.T. on the hot spot.

Soap Talk

Strasser stresses job and fan appreciation

By Candace Havens
© Zap2it

It's been 35 years since Robin Strasser took on her first daytime role as Rachel Davis on "Another World." Over the last three decades, she's made stops on "All My Children," "One Life to Live" and "Passions."

"I feel quite lucky to have had such a wonderful career," Strasser says. "Some days, it's hard for me to believe that it's been that long. When I stop and think about the great people I've worked with and this whole journey, it's just too much, sometimes."

In March, the actress returned to her role as the wicked Dorian Lord on "OLTL," and she says the character has hit the show full throttle.

"Expect the unexpected. It's hard to pigeonhole the way the writers take characters on a journey, and I think that's very healthy," Strasser says. "They seem to want to go real fast for a while to galvanize and surprise the audience. There isn't that old-fashioned thing where something happens, everybody repeats it, retells it over 12 more shows. You hook on to the story, and you want to check in every day because something is going to happen. It's so fast-paced."

The rumors over the last few years that "OLTL" was trying to woo Strasser weren't true. She missed playing Dorian and would have returned sooner, if she had been asked.

"This was the first time the invitation had been extended in three years," Strasser says. "I think it's not unfair for me to acknowledge that. It's thanks to Frank Valentini ('OLTL' executive producer) and Brian Frons (president of ABC Daytime). They called, and a few weeks later, I was on a plane from the West to the East Coast. I arrived on a Wednesday night and was fitted for my costume, and the next day I was taping."

"Also, the fans never ceased in their support and energy in wanting this to happen. Their devotion to me and this character is something."

"I'm so happy to be back, and I'm trying to put every bit of that energy right back into the work."

In other news: Kristoff St. John (Neil Winters, "The Young and the Restless") and his wife, Allana, have named their new baby daughter Lola.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
ABC's 50th Anniversary Celebration
A half-century of broadcasting is condensed into three hours as ABC marks its milestone with this new special. The casts of shows such as "The Mod Squad," "Happy Days" and "The Love Boat" are reunited, and Peter Jennings, Barbara Walters and others recall major news events of the past 50 years. Participants also include Oprah Winfrey, Marion Ross, Florence Henderson, John Travolta, Jennifer Garner, Dennis Franz, John Ritter and Susan Lucci.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
Mr. Personality

All the masks will be off when Hayley Arp makes her final choice in the two-hour finale of this reality series. Until now, she only has had behavior and general physique to go on in deciding which suitors to keep — or dismiss. Can what's on the inside really be all that matters when choosing a mate? Monica Lewinsky is the host.

8 p.m. on 38-WB
Everwood

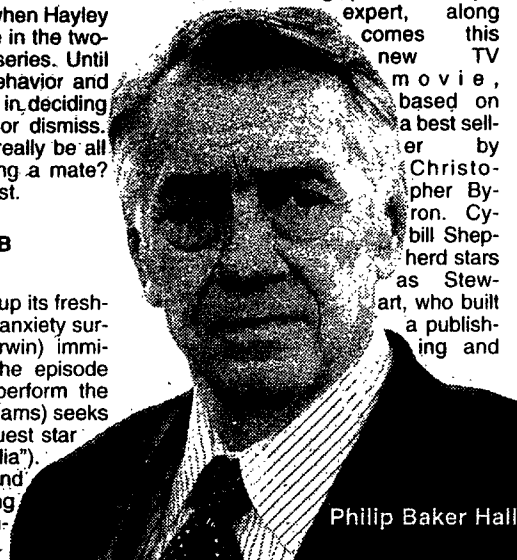

The drama series wraps up its freshman season with plenty of anxiety surrounding Colin's (Mike Erwin) imminent second surgery in the episode "Home." In preparing to perform the operation, Andy (Treat Williams) seeks advice from his mentor (guest star Philip Baker Hall, "Magnolia"). Colin has his own plans, and they involve the unwitting Amy and Bright (Emily VanCamp, Chris Pratt).

Monday Best Bets

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Movie: Martha Inc.: The Story of Martha Stewart

Just when the untoward publicity seemed to be easing up on the lifestyle expert, along comes this new TV movie, based on a best seller by Christopher Byron. Cybill Shepherd stars as Stewart, who built a publishing and broadcasting empire through sheer determination and a seemingly flawless public image. Allegations of insider trading, involving the biotech firm ImClone, tarnished Stewart's reputation.

Philip Baker Hall

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Ken Burns American Stories

The sports-related glory in which New York basked during the 1950s — largely thanks to its baseball stars — is recalled in "The Capital of Baseball (1950-1960)," one of the episodes of Burns' 1994 miniseries "Baseball." Among the events recaptured through newsreel footage and interviews: Bobby Thomson's legendary 1951 home run.

8 p.m. on 54-UPN

Girlfriends

Toni (Jill Marie Jones) may drive away her girlfriends with her obsessiveness in the comedy's hourlong third-season finale, "The Wedding." She and her fiancée (Jason Pace) rent a Malibu mansion for the event, but even the groom is put off by her preoccupation with certain details.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

American Idol

It all comes down to this: Two amateur singers are in the spots Kelly Clarkson and Justin Guarini first had, as the talent competition begins a two-part season finale that concludes Wednesday. Expect the two finalists to sing their hearts out for judges Paula Abdul, Simon Cowell and Randy Jackson — and for the at-home audience, which will decide, through telephone voting, who wins the contest and lands a recording contract.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

JAG

Determined to save Mac and Clayton Webb (Catherine Bell, Steven Culp), despite orders to stay out of the situation, Harm (David James Elliott) resigns from JAG and launches his own rescue mission in Paraguay in the military drama's eighth-season finale, "A Tangled Web." Once he gets there, Harm's actions not only fail to recover stolen stinger missiles and save the hostages, they place him in the same peril.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Gilmore Girls

Lorelai (Lauren Graham) tries to look beyond problems at the fire-ravaged inn to prepare for a summer trip through Europe with Rory (Alexis Bledel), as the show ends its third season with "Those Are Strings, Pinocchio." Rory makes a big decision when she learns how her Yale tuition is being funded. Luke (Scott Patterson) reconsiders the summer plans he has made with his latest girlfriend.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Buffy the Vampire Slayer

Buffy (Sarah Michelle Gellar) usually triumphs over the forces of evil, but the episode "Chosen" ends the seven-season run of executive producer Joss Whedon's series, so the outcome isn't quite as certain. The Slayer and her Scooby Gang engage in battle with the sinister minions of The First, and since all bets are off, some heroes could take a permanent fall. David Boreanaz and Eliza Dushku return as Angel and Faith.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

24

With a war imminent, the clock again runs out on Jack Bauer (Kiefer Sutherland) as the drama series ends its second season with "Day 2: 7:00 — 8:00AM." Marie Warner (Laura Harris) claims she was brainwashed into participating in the terrorists' plan, but Kate (Sarah Wynter) has a hard time buying it. Novick (Jude Ciccollella) has to make his final decision on which side to take in the Cyprus matter.

8 p.m. on

38-WB

Smallville

With his destiny apparent, Clark (T-O-M)

Welling) must decide whether to stay with Lana (Kristin Kreuk) and his Earth parents (John Schneider, Annette O'Toole) or fulfill his true calling in the conclusion of "Exodus," the series' second-season finale. Chloe (Allison Mack) mulls Lionel's (John Glover) request to probe Clark's past. Lex and Helen (Michael Rosenbaum, Emmanuelle Vaugier) try to move forward with wedding plans.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Frasier

Roz (Peri Gilpin) is ready to leave to become the manager of another radio station, until she discovers how close Frasier and Julia (Kelsey Grammer, Felicity Huffman) are becoming, as the comedy ends its tenth season with "A New Position for Roz." Eager to start a family, Niles and Daphne (David Hyde Pierce, Jane Leeves) try to send Daphne's mother (guest star Millicent Martin) on her way.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Warrior Challenge

The days of Nordic fighters are reenacted as Marines and police officers undergo similar rigors in the new episode "Vikings." The participants endure strenuous battle training during the day, then feast at night. The ultimate showdown pits Americans against Englishmen, using no-nonsense weaponry such as short swords and axes.

8 p.m. on 54-UPN

America's Next Top Model

Are you ready for television's next reality series? UPN is, though the network has invented a new hybrid by calling the show a "dramality." Supermodel Tyra Banks created and co-produces the program, which premieres by introducing 10 young women — such as Joliet, Ill., waitress Adrienne Curry — who compete for a prize package including modeling and management contracts as well as fashion-magazine placement. Banks also is a judge.

2:30 p.m. on ESPN

MLB Baseball

The Oakland A's have learned from the past. They ended April seven games over .500, a departure from snail-like beginnings of recent seasons that put Eric Chavez and his teammates into early catch-up mode. As they prepare to take on Torii Hunter and the Minnesota Twins today, the A's challenge now is to remember last May, when they wound up losing 17 games and, at one point, found themselves last in the AL West.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

The 38th Annual Academy of Country Music Awards

Country's best again is saluted as Reba McEntire hosts the annual event at the Mandalay Bay Resort and Casino in Las Vegas. Alan Jackson, Shania Twain, Brooks & Dunn, Kenny Chesney, Toby Keith, Martina McBride and Willie Nelson are scheduled to perform. George Strait is slated to get a Special Achievement Award, and the group Alabama will receive the Pioneer Award.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Movie: I Know What You Did Last Summer

Four teenagers who accidentally hit a man with their car and not-so-accidentally dump him in the ocean return to their hometown a year after the incident and become the targets of a mysterious, murderous figure in a black raincoat. Jennifer Love Hewitt, Sarah Michelle Gellar, Ryan Phillippe and Freddie Prinze Jr. star in this 1997 thriller from "Scream" writer Kevin Williamson.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

This series has been around a long time, but its pilot is rarely shown. "Everybody's Favorite Bagman" introduces Chris Noth and George Dzundza as New York police partners Logan and Greevey, whose investigation of the robbery-murder of a city councilman leads them to a mobster (guest star Paul Guilfoyle, "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation"). Michael Moriarty and Richard Brooks also star as prosecutors Stone and Robinette.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The Bachelor: After the Final Rose

The previous two times, the "Bachelor" and his choice of companion were given awhile to collect their thoughts and establish — or try to establish — their relationships before facing the cameras again. Not so for the third round, since Andrew Firestone and his would-be mate report on how things have gone for them since their final reality-series episode was taped. Chris Harrison is the host of this new special.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Kingdom of David: The Saga of the Israelites

Two hourlong episodes comprise the finale of this new miniseries about the roots of a religion. Pompeii pits his Roman troops against the Jews — some of whom also turn on one another over interpretations of the Bible — in "The End of Days."

8 p.m. on 54-UPN

The Twilight Zone

Directed by actor Tim Matheson ("The West Wing") and starring Jonathan Jackson ("Tuck Everlasting"), the new tale "Sunrise" thrusts several college students into a nightmare. They find an Aztec artifact, which causes the sun to vanish, and a human sacrifice is the only solution. The season-ending hour's second story, "Burned," casts Jason Bateman as a man haunted by the ghosts of children killed in an arson he commissioned.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

The drama series marks a milestone by wrapping up its 13th season with its 300th episode, "Smoke." A popular comedian's infant son dies in a fall from a high-rise building, and the odds of it being an accident lessen as Briscoe and Green's (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) probe deepens. McCoy and Southerlyn (Sam Waterston, Elisabeth Rohm) ultimately decide to prosecute the comedian for a sexual assault committed years earlier.

9 p.m. on HBO

Legendary Nights

The 12-part documentary series rehashing HBO's most memorable boxing matches concludes with "The Tale of Lewis-Tyson." With a record pay-per-view take, the highly anticipated encounter between heavyweights Lennox Lewis and Mike Tyson in June 2002 didn't disappoint the accountants, but it wasn't an all-time classic, either. Lewis' domination had the washed-up former champ saying afterward, "I'm lucky he didn't kill me."

Summer Music Mania 2003

Fox traditionally offers a warm-weather special showcasing music stars, and this year, it arrives earlier than usual. "Fastlane" co-star Bill Belamy plays host to performers including first "American Idol" winner Kelly Clarkson, whose debut album "Thankful" recently entered the Billboard chart at No. 1. Brian McKnight, Ziggy Marley, Smash Mouth, Alice Cooper and a celebrity bikini contest also are on the bill.

7:30 p.m. on 38-WB

The O'Keefes

Judge Reinhold ("Beverly Hills Cop") and Kirsten Nelson star as home-schooling parents trying to shelter their children (Joseph Cross, Tania Raymonde, Matt Weinberg) from the outside world in this new comedy series, inspired by the life of creator-producer

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

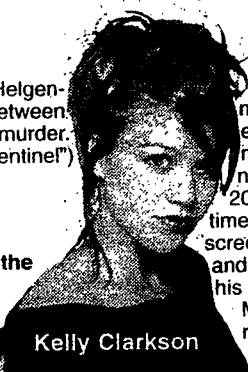

Nick and Warrick (George Eads, Gary Dourdan) get a crash course in paragliding in "High and Low." They investigate the death of a man who took a fatal plunge while practicing the sport. Catherine (Marg Helgenberger) probes a dispute between neighbors that ended in murder. Richard Burgi ("24," "The Sentinel") guest stars.

8 p.m. on HBO

Movie: The Kid Stays in the Picture

Robert Evans' story may seem like a Hollywood movie, but it's all true. The producer ("Chinatown," "Urban Cowboy"), ex-actor and former Paramount Pictures studio chief narrates this award-winning 2002 account of his life and times, from his nurturing of screen classics "Love Story" and "The Godfather" through his marriage to actress Ali MacGraw, and on to his role in a high-profile murder case.

6 p.m. on HALL
Movie: Escape to Witch Mountain
Orphaned siblings Tia and Tony (Kim Richards, Ike Eisenmann) have unusual powers that a sinister millionaire (Ray Milland) wants to harness for his own purposes. His chief henchman (Donald Pleasence) poses as their uncle, intending to capture them and deliver them to the boss, but a crusty, good-hearted widower (Eddie Albert) interferes. The 1975 Disney fantasy movie co-stars Denver Pyle ("The Dukes of Hazzard").

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
Movie: Final Destination
While buckling in for a school-trip flight to France, a teenager (Devon Sawa) foresees the plane crashing. The commotion he causes gets him and several friends kicked off the jet — which explodes just after takeoff. The Grim Reaper isn't ready to give up on the survivors, who start dying one by one. Kerr Smith ("Dawson's Creek"), Amanda Detmer ("A.U.S.A.") and Daniel Roebuck co-star in this 2000 thriller.

7 p.m. on 38-WB
What I Like About You
Holly's (Amanda Bynes) enthusiasm has a pronounced effect on a young opponent (J. Mack Slaughter) to a zoo's treatment of a performing parrot in "The Parrot Trap." Inspired by Holly, who is smitten with him, he turns protest into action by abducting the bird. Val (Jennie Garth) tries to help a client (Stacy Galina, "Hidden Hills") meet the man she adores, unaware he's Jeff (Simon Rex).

John Heard

7 p.m. on FAM
Movie: City Slickers II: The Legend of Curly's Gold

Largely a reprise of the original movie, this 1994 comedy sequel reunites Billy Crystal and Daniel Stern in another quest for Western adventure, with Jon Lovitz climbing aboard as Crystal's brother and fellow treasure-seeker. Jack Palance again turns up as his original character, the now-deceased Curly.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC
Law & Order: Special Victims Unit
The rape of a woman (Caprice Benedetti) suspected by federal agents of racketeering puts Benson and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) on the trail of an underworld kingpin (John Heard) in "Disappearing Acts." Both the victim and the crime boss are taken into the Witness Protection Program, leading the police detectives to clash with an assistant U.S. attorney (guest star Pam Grier, "Jackie Brown").

Saturday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Movie: Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade

The Nazis again do their best to drag the Joneses down to their level — it's so much easier than keeping up with them — in this last installment of Steven Spielberg's action-adventure series. Indiana and his father (Harrison Ford, Sean Connery) search for the Holy Grail, carry on with attractive women and, naturally, save the world from the armies of darkness in the 1989 release.

7 p.m. and BRAV

Movie: Life Is Beautiful

Roberto Benigni wrote, directed and stars in this Oscar-winning film set in 1930s Italy. High-spirited Guido Orefice (Benigni) relocates to a large Tuscan town, then meets and weds a local schoolteacher (Nicoletta Braschi). After Germany invades Italy, the family is torn apart and sent to concentration camps. But Guido refuses to lose his spirit and protects his son (Giorgio Cantarini) from the horrors surrounding them.

7 p.m. on TNT

Movie: Bad Boys

Two mismatched Miami cops — one foot-loose and cocky, the other a hen-pecked family man — must switch identities to get the cooperation of the sole witness to a murder and reclaim a consignment of drugs stolen right from under their precinct's "nose." Martin Lawrence, Will Smith and Tea Leoni star in this 1995 comedy.

Angelina Jolie

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Life or Something Like It

A materialistic TV news reporter, played by Angelina Jolie, gets a shocking extra from her interview with a purported psychic (Tony Shalhoub, "Monk") in this 2002 comedy. The seer predicts she has only a week to live unless she starts experiencing a full life. Her cameraman (Edward Burns) is befuddled by her sudden personality change. Stockard Channing and Broadway talent Melissa Erico ("My Fair Lady") co-star.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

The District

Mannion (Craig T. Nelson) is questioned about his alleged role in the massacre of 18 civilians during the Vietnam War in "Free-Fire Zone." One of his military buddies (guest star Steve Railsback) from those days reveals information that also puts his own reputation on the line.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"STAR TREK: NEMESIS": The Next Generation crew teams a peace accord isn't what it seems in a predictable yet satisfying science-fiction adventure devised by "Gladiator" co-writer John Logan. On the planet Romulus, Capt. Picard (Patrick Stewart) meets his match in Shinzon (Tom Hardy), an alien partially cloned from him. The enemy targets Earth, interfering with Riker and Troi's (Jonathan Frakes, Marina Sirtis) honeymoon.  (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"ADAPTATION": Chris Cooper won an Oscar for his work in director Spike Jonze's way-offbeat comedy, in which Nicolas Cage has dual roles as Charlie Kaufman - who actually wrote the film's script - and his fellow-writer twin, Donald, who actually doesn't exist. The creatively blocked Charlie reluctantly asks for the successful Donald's help in adapting a book by author Susan Orlean (Meryl Streep) about a plant dealer (Cooper).  (R: AS, P, V)

"ANTWONE FISHER": Denzel Washington makes his directing debut with this earnest, true-life drama in which he plays a Navy psychiatrist treating the title character (played by recent Independent Spirit Award winner Derek Luke). Fisher, a sailor who exhibits unexpected moments of pure rage, is reluctant to reveal the details of his tortured past, but they ultimately and painfully come flooding forth.  (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"25TH HOUR": The last day of freedom experienced by a convict (played by Edward Norton) before he begins a seven-year prison sentence is followed by director Spike Lee in this superbly acted version of the novel by David Benioff, who wrote the screenplay. Sentenced for dealing drugs, the central character tries to put his affairs in order with his girlfriend (Rosario Dawson), father (Brian Cox) and friends (Barry Pepper, Philip Seymour Hoffman).  (R: AS, P, V)

"CHILDREN OF DUNE": The second and third books of Frank Herbert's celebrated "Dune Chronicles" are dramatized in a Sci-Fi Channel miniseries with effects by Jim Henson's Creature Shop. Paul Atreides (Alec Newman), now emperor of Dune, is helpless to stop a holy war that has engulfed the universe. Another planet's princess (Susan Sarandon) is determined to end his reign and see her son take Paul's throne. Alice Krige also stars.  (Not rated: AS, P, V)

"SEX AND THE CITY: THE COMPLETE FOURTH SEASON": Split between summer and winter runs when HBO first showed them, all the episodes are available in this boxed set. It begins with columnist Carrie (Sarah Jessica Parker) anxious about still being single at age 35. Before long, a musician (Craig Bierko) enters her life, forcing her to reassess her feelings for Mr. Big (Chris Noth). Kim Cattrall, Cynthia Nixon and Kristin Davis also star.  (Not rated: AS, P)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"A GUY THING" (May 27): An engaged man (Jason Lee) has a fling with a free spirit (Julia Stiles) who turns out to be the cousin of his fiancée (Selma Blair). (PG-13: AS, P)

"NATIONAL SECURITY" (May 27): Martin Lawrence and Steve Zahn play unconventional security guards probing a smuggling case with big implications. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"THE PIANIST" (May 27): Director Roman Polanski and star Adrien Brody earned Academy Awards for this drama of a Polish-Jewish musician during World War II. (R: AS, P, V)

"THE RECRUIT" (May 27): A CIA agent-in-training (Colin Farrell) gets quick career advancement by helping his boss (Al Pacino) find a traitor within the agency. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"ABOUT SCHMIDT" (June 3): Jack Nicholson stars as a man whose wife's death leaves him adrift - until he focuses on his daughter's (Hope Davis) wedding plans. (R: AS, P)

"DIE ANOTHER DAY" (June 3): James Bond (Pierce Brosnan) teams with American spy Jinx (Halle Berry) to stop a tycoon's (Toby Stephens) sinister, icebound plot. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

OLDIES BUT GOODIES

If your local video store is fresh out of new releases, give these a look:

"BEING JOHN MALKOVICH" (1999): The "Adaptation" creative team also made this comedy about the discovery of a portal straight into the mind of actor Malkovich (who plays himself). ***

"ORDINARY PEOPLE" (1980): A troubled teen (Timothy Hutton) is helped by a psychiatrist (Judd Hirsch) in dealing with a tragedy that has hung over his family. ****

"STAR TREK II: THE WRATH OF KHAN" (1982): Kirk (William Shatner) faces an old enemy (Ricardo Montalban) who's bent on acquiring a regeneration device. ***

On TV

Here comes a bride: One of UPN's 'Girlfriends' marries

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Jill Marie Jones isn't a bride; she's just playing one on TV.

Still, her wedding was realistic enough to give her the jitters while making the hourlong third-season finale of her UPN comedy series "Girlfriends," airing Monday, May 19.

Toni Childs (Jones) prepares to exchange vows with Dr. Todd Garrett (Jason Pace) at a posh Malibu mansion. But before she can walk down the aisle, her picky and materialistic outlook may drive him away, along with her three best girlfriends: Joan Clayton, Maya Wilkes and Lynn Searcy (Tracee Ellis Ross, Golden Brooks, Persia White).

The other women have their own problems. Joan is trying to mend her relationship with her beau (Adrian Lester, "Primary Colors"), and Maya has her eye on Toni's brother (Russell Hornsby) - which worries his mother (guest star Jenifer Lewis). With virtually every other female in her life preoccupied, Toni turns to her father (guest star Isaac Hayes) for the advice and support she'll need to get through her nuptials.

"I've been in a couple of weddings," Jones says, "but I had purposely never tried on a wedding dress. It felt sort of taboo for me. I tried on something like nine different wedding dresses in the course of making this episode, and it was just so weird. Even though it's Toni's wedding, I think I got lost in it for a little bit. It was like, 'Snap out of it, Jill, snap out of it!' I've never seen a sitcom wedding look the way this one does. They really went all out."

Jones isn't surprised that Toni is the first of the "Girlfriends" to have a wedding on the show: "Maya was married and is now divorced, Joan is in pursuit of finding the perfect guy to complete her circle, and Lynn is just 'out there,'" she says. "At the start of each season, the producers bring us in and tell us where we're going to go, so I knew that Toni's wedding was a possibility."

Written by "Girlfriends" creator-producer Mara Brock Akil and directed by her husband, Salim Akil (TV's "Soul Food"), the wedding story was a different experience for the show's cast in a number of ways. "We shot it mostly with one camera," Jones remembers, "whereas a half-hour sitcom normally is done with four cameras. We did two episodes (the ones that make up the hour airing Monday) in a week-and-a-half, and I felt like I was really earning my money."

Jones is proud that "Girlfriends," which is co-produced by Kelsey Grammer ("Frasier"), depicts female friendships that stay strong through numerous ups and downs. "That's what's so lovely about our show," she says. "Mara Brock Akil tries to stay as close to true life as possible within a sitcom format. In reality, you can't wrap up your life in 22 minutes - without commercials - and sometimes, we leave you without a closing joke at the end. It's almost too in-your-face. We've done several episodes about the HIV virus, and it's a risk to go there," but our producers are fearless."

However, "Girlfriends" doesn't lose sight of staying amusing. "I have a newfound respect for comedy," Jones says. "I remember being so nervous at my first table read, Golden Brooks held my hand under the table. I work with a great cast and I'm always picking up things from them, and you learn so much just from working on a set steadily. You can take as many acting lessons as you can, but being out there doing it is the best teacher."

"Girlfriends" truly has been an education for Jones, who turned to acting after several years as a dancer-cheerleader for two of her hometown sports teams, the Dallas Cowboys and the Dallas Mavericks. "As a kid who wanted to be an actor, I wasn't shy, but I'd picture myself alone on a stage in front of lots of people and think, 'I could never do that.' When I was cheerleading, I'd be in front of thousands of fans, but I wasn't alone. I think that helped me overcome my stage fright."

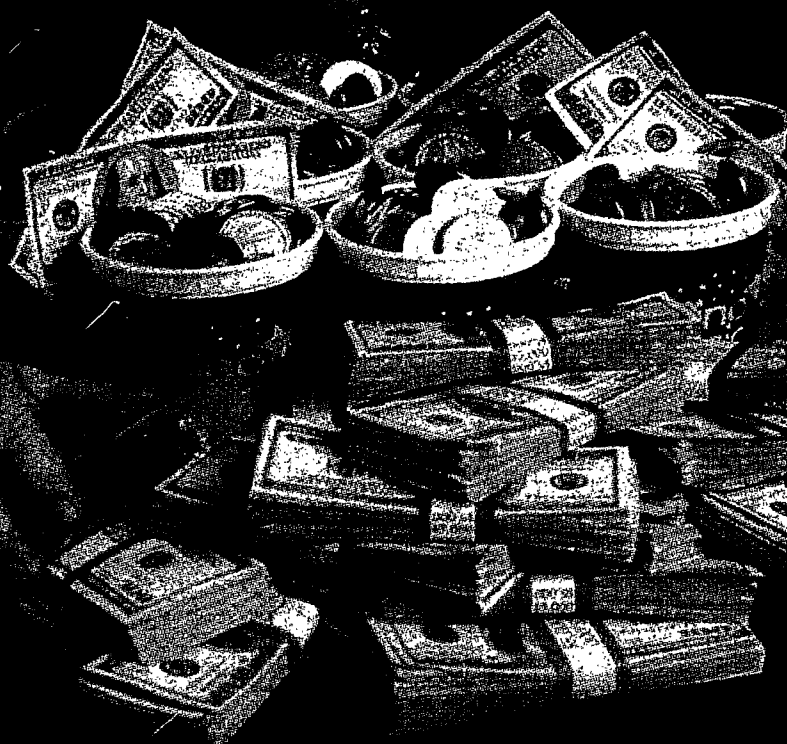

Toni Childs (Jill Marie Jones) prepares to get married - though her materialistic outlook might derail her plans - in the hourlong season finale of the comedy series "Girlfriends" Monday on UPN.

Working with "Girlfriends" co-star Ross has allowed Jones to become acquainted with one of her idols: Ross' mother, music legend Diana Ross. "I remember seeing her in the movies 'Lady Sings the Blues' and 'Mahogany' and thinking, 'I could do that, too,'" Jones says. "Meeting Miss Ross was one of the most amazing experiences I've ever had. She made rice pudding for me at her house. Susan Lucci is another huge reason I'm an actor. I was always blown away by her when I'd watch 'All My Children.'"

A fourth season for "Girlfriends" still hadn't been confirmed by UPN at press time, but Jones appreciates how the show has been handled so far. "I'm happy to be on UPN," she

JOHN DEERE FOR THE LONG HAUL

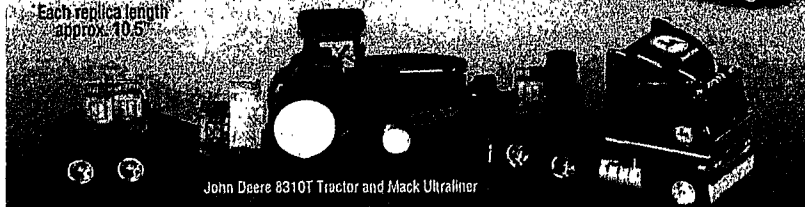

John Deere 5020 Tractors and Mack B-61

John Deere 7610 Tractor and Mack Ultraliner

John Deere 2510 Tractor and Mack B-61

John Deere 8310T Tractor and Mack Ultraliner

Each replica length
approx. 10.5"

John Deere tractors have been a trusted ally for over 80 years, from the sweeping acreage of America's heartland to the smallest family farm. John Deere's ruggedly built, dependable tractors have been counted on to work as hard and long as the chore demands...to lighten the farmer's load and shorten his long day.

This handsome quartet of John Deere "For the Long Haul" collection replicas reflects the heritage and evolution of John Deere: a 1960s Model 5020 Tractor, a Model 2510 row-crop tractor complete down to the 3-pt hydraulic hitch; a versatile Model 7810 with its Command View cab for long hours in the sun; and today's state-of-the-art Model 8310T whose wide, track-driven rubber treads give new definition to field maneuverability and traction in rough fields and loose soil. Available by subscription, exclusively from Hamilton Authenticated.

- 365 Day Guarantee. The Best in the Business.
- Ertl®, #1 in die-cast for over 50 years
- Outstanding value at only $39.95* each
- Officially licensed by John Deere

☐ YES! Please enter my order for the "For the Long Haul" Semi Collection, beginning with truck one as shown. I NEED SEND NO MONEY NOW. I understand I will be billed $39.95* when my first replica is shipped. Subsequent trucks in the series will be shipped automatically, about every other month, backed by our 365-day guarantee. My satisfaction is completely guaranteed.

* Plus $5.95 for shipping & handling. Illinois residents add state sales tax. Please allow 4-6 weeks for shipment.

Maria Duval, the famous clairvoyant, is making you this unusual offer: Choose from the 33 wishes below those you'd most like to see come true in your life NOW!

Maria Duval

have to do is choose from the list of 33 Secret Wishes below those you'd most like to see come true in your life, and then leave the amazing "powers" of Maria Duval to do their work...

Please note: offer limited to only 7 Secret Wishes per person.

Then what will happen?

As soon as Maria Duval is in possession of your "Special Form for Fulfilling Your Wishes", she is going to perform, on your behalf, a ritual known only to her which should allow your Secret Wishes to come true. You will have absolutely nothing special to do, other than to follow the very simple instructions that she is going to send you in a large, discreet envelope.

Only a few days after receiving your big white envelope, you should see the first beneficial effects of this special help. Then your life will take a new and quite astonishing turn!

You can expect some real "MIRACLES!"

That's right, "miracles" are going to occur in your life once Maria Duval has performed (free of charge) this very special ritual that should allow your Secret Wishes - whichever they may be - to become a reality in your life. You probably won't be able to believe your eyes, but each of the wishes you have asked for should come true.

Choose your 7 wishes NOW!

- ☐ 1. Win the lottery jackpot within two weeks
- ☐ 2. Win a big prize ($10,000.00 minimum) on a scratch card
- ☐ 3. Win on the horse races
- ☐ 4. Immediately win (indicate the amount you'd like to win on your special Form)
- ☐ 5. Have a monthly income of $5,000.00
- ☐ 6. Win at the casino
- ☐ 7. Have enough money to buy a house
- ☐ 8. Sell or set up my own business
- ☐ 9. Win enough money to never have to work again
- ☐ 10. See my kids do really well in their studies
- ☐ 11. Get a new car
- ☐ 12. Travel around the world

- ☐ 13. Have enough money to help out my family
- ☐ 14. Retire with enough money to have no worries
- ☐ 15. Become the owner of a property that I could rent out
- ☐ 16. Succeed in an important exam or competition
- ☐ 17. Be the friend of wealthy people
- ☐ 18. Never have any more money problems
- ☐ 19. Buy a boat
- ☐ 20. Go on a cruise
- ☐ 21. Win lots of money in the lottery so I could give up working now
- ☐ 22. Have a house in the country
- ☐ 23. Get promoted at work
- ☐ 24. Find a job which is enjoyable and pays well
- ☐ 25. Find true love at last
- ☐ 26. Be madly loved by someone
- ☐ 27. Marry the person I love
- ☐ 28. Attract men
- ☐ 29. Attract women
- ☐ 30. Be on TV
- ☐ 31. Make new friends
- ☐ 32. Solve my financial problems once and for all
- ☐ 33. Be able to stop working with a substantial monthly income

I'll try to realize them for you, FREE

Nothing to pay, everything is FREE!

Yes, Maria Duval wants to help you free of charge, and that's why she doesn't want any money in return for the help she's going to give you. All you need to do to benefit from Maria Duval's free help and to see your Secret Wishes coming true in your life is to simply indicate on your "Special Wish Fulfillment Form" the 7 Secret Wishes that you'd like Maria Duval to realize for you, and then return it as soon as possible to the following address:

Maria Duval, 366 North Broadway, # 410, Jericho, NY 11753-2000.

So that's it! Have you chosen your 7 wishes? Then quickly complete the original of the Form below, and return it without delay to Maria Duval.

Please, don't hesitate. Remember, you have nothing to lose, and EVERYTHING TO GAIN!

SPECIAL FORM FOR FULFILLING YOUR WISHES

Complete and return as soon as possible (by this evening, if possible) to:
Maria Duval, 366 North Broadway, # 410, Jericho, NY 11753-2000

YES, my dear Maria Duval, I accept your offer with pleasure. I would like you to try and realize the 7 Secret Wishes I have indicated below FOR ME, FREE OF CHARGE.

I understand that I'll never be asked for any money in return for the realization of my 7 Secret Wishes, neither now nor later.

Subject to this condition, please see below the 7 Wishes I'd most like to see coming true in my life:

Indicate here the number corresponding to the 7 Wishes you'd most like to see coming true in your life (no more than 7):

BLAIR
Because good clothing doesn't have to cost a lot

Great-looking Calcutta Cloth pants and split skirts from Blair come in your size — Petites, Average or Women's!

Woven Calcutta Cloth — the best blend ever for three-season wear — is a feel-good fabric of woven cotton and polyester. It needs no special care — just machine wash and dry. Don't iron; the crinkly texture is the secret to its terrific looks and comfort.

With multi-stitched elastic waists, a comfy fit is assured. Roomy slash pockets give both styles extra convenience. Pants inseams: Petites 28"; Average & Women's 29^{1/2}". Split skirt lengths: Petites 25"; Average & Women's 26^{1/2}".

Order your choices today, RISK-FREE! There's no obligation to keep them if you're not completely satisfied.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

ABSOLUTELY! If your pants and split skirts ever fail to perform to your satisfaction, return them for replacement, refund or credit for the purchase price.

1. HOW TO ENTER: Simply complete the official entry form found in the 5/18/2003 Valassis coupon insert found in the Sunday edition of your participating newspaper(s) or print your name, age, address and daytime phone number on a plain piece of 3" x 5" paper and mail in an envelope with sufficient postage affixed to: Valassis Grocery Giveaway Sweepstakes, P.O. Box 532350, Livonia, MI, 48153-2350. Entries must be postmarked by 6/17/2003 and received by 6/24/2003. Limit one entry per household. Not responsible for lost, late, misdirected, incomplete, illegible or postage due entries. 2. RANDOM DRAWING: Winner will be randomly drawn from among all valid entries received on or about July 2, 2003 by an independent judging organization, whose decisions are final. Winner will be notified by mail and/or phone. Odds of winning depend on the number of valid entries received. 3. PRIZES: (1) Grand Prize: $1,000 gift certificate to winner's preferred supermarket/grocery store. In the event that there is no supermarket/grocery store that issues gift certificates within a reasonable distance of winner's residence, a check will be issued in the amount of $1,000. 4. ELIGIBILITY: Open to legal U.S. residents who have reached the age of 18 by May 18, 2003, except for employees and families of Valassis and its subsidiaries, affiliates and advertising and promotional agencies. Void where prohibited. Subject to all federal, state and local laws and regulations. 5. GENERAL: Prize is not transferable prior to awarding. Prize winner will be required to complete and return a notarized affidavit of eligibility/liability release form and, where legally permitted, a publicity release within 10 days of notification. Non-compliance will result in forfeiture of prize and an alternate winner will be selected. Taxes are the sole responsibility of the winners. Acceptance of prize constitutes permission to the sponsor and its agencies to use winner's name and/or likeness for purposes of advertising and trade without further compensation unless prohibited by law. Valassis, including its subsidiaries, affiliates, promotion agencies, or employees thereof not liable whatsoever for any injuries, losses or damages of any kind, caused by any prize or resulting from acceptance, possession or use of any prize. 6. For name of winner, send self-addressed, stamped #10 envelope by 9/18/2003 to: "Valassis Grocery Giveaway Sweepstakes" - Winner's List, 19975 Victor Parkway, Livonia, MI 48152. Winner's list available after 7/18/2003. 7. This promotion is sponsored by Valassis, 19975 Victor Parkway, Livonia, MI 48152.

Try before you buy

The 8-lb. Oreck XL® can cost you nothing. And you get a free gift just to try it.

It uses 1/3 the electricity of virtually any other vacuum. That savings alone will pay for it.

Hi, I'm David Oreck. The performance of the Oreck XL® is incredible — its suction velocity is equivalent to a Category 2 hurricane. Dust, dander, pet hair, pollen and even dust mites come up in one sweep. Now, we've more than doubled the life of the motor and created a vacuum that will run more powerfully — so you can clean faster — and much more efficiently — so you use a fraction of the electricity of those "gas guzzler" brands.

Oreck Direct, LLC 100 Plantation Road, New Orleans, LA 70123

Oreck vacuums last longer.

A hypo-allergenic 8-lb. Oreck XL will still be going strong long after those heavy clunker vacs have been thrown out. Odds are you'd go through three other vacuums in the time you own one Oreck XL. And you get a 10-year housing warranty!

Clean carpets last longer.

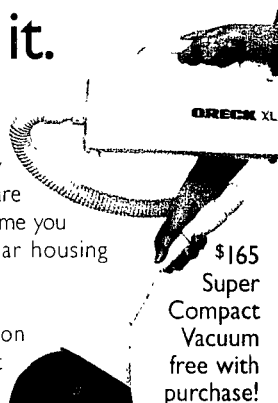

The pile-lifting roller brushes on the Oreck XL whirl at 6,500 rpm. That's almost twice as fast as the competition. They loosen deeply-embedded dirt. But unlike other brands, they also restore the nap of your carpet, both protecting and extending the investment in your carpets and rugs.

Free $165 Compact Canister with 8 attachments.

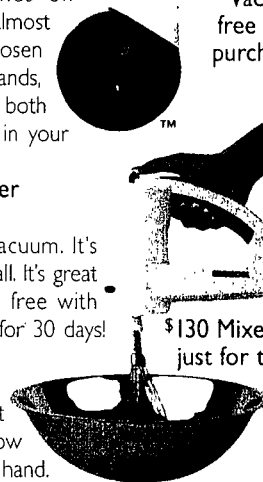

It's the perfect above-the-floor vacuum. It's powerful enough to lift a 16-lb. bowling ball. It's great for those hard to reach places, and it's free with purchase of the XL. Use them both free for 30 days! Then decide.

A $130 gift for trying.

Oreck has done for the mixer what we did for the vacuum: reinvented it. Now the weight goes in the bowl, not in your hand. So you can easily mix, whip, beat and knead without hand fatigue. Our revolutionary mixer comes with a storage caddy and six attachments. It's yours to keep even if you return the vacuums. Nobody offers you more value than Oreck. Nobody!
